

CAMBODIANS HIT EMBASSIES

Country Will Pay Damages

... TO U.S. AND BRITISH

Phnom Penh, Cambodia (AP)—Thousands of Cambodians sacked the U.S. and British embassies and their information offices Wednesday in a three-hour riot. Blaming volatile students, the neutralist government promised to pay for the damage.

Breaking through police lines, the Cambodian demonstrators hauled down the flag over the U.S. Embassy and scattered embassy papers in the streets.

British Embassy cars were burned and some U.S. Embassy cars were overturned, but all personnel of both embassies escaped unhurt. Rioters also wrecked the building of the British Council, a private group promoting cultural interests abroad.

Protesters' U.S. Charge d'Affaires Herbert D. Spivack and British Ambassador Peter Murray protested immediately.

In a speech over the Cambodian radio, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, chief of state, expressed regrets for the sackings and said compensation would be paid. In Athens, Premier Konstantinos Karamanlis said Communists had nothing to do with the rioting.

While expressing regrets, Sihanouk kept up his feud with the United States saying he understood why the people "might be angry at the imperialists."

Abandoning He announced he was abandoning a plan for a four-power conference to guarantee Cambodia's frontier, which he proposed last month in what he called an effort to compromise differences with Washington.

Sihanouk has been directing his fire at the United States, accusing it of supporting Cambodian rebel movements based in South Vietnam. Now apparently he is linking Britain to the United States. The crowds marched to the embassy row shouting "U.S. go home," "Down with imperialists," "Down with the free world," and "Perfidious Albion (England)!" The crowds appeared well

Seaton Won't Enter Race For Governor

Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney Wednesday faced what appears to be an open path to the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Hastings publisher Fred A. Seaton's long-awaited announcement that he will not be a candidate for the GOP nomination removed what may have been the last major roadblock to Burney's nomination.

Three other candidates have entered the race against Burney, but none of them is widely known throughout the state.

Contenders for the GOP gubernatorial nod include Leo Bartunek of Lincoln, Roland Ehlers of Omaha and Albert Hahn of Grand Island.

Little Time Left Burney's avowed support for a broadened tax base may yet spur the entry of a major candidate opposed to tax change — but less than 48 hours remain before the filing deadline.

A group of Republicans had suggested that former Omaha City Council President A. V. Sorensen get in the race to give Omaha Republicans an opportunity to support a candidate opposed to the broadened tax base.

But Sorensen has declined, it was learned Wednesday night.

Seaton's statement was brief. "With deep regret, I must announce that I cannot be a candidate for governor this year," he declared.

"I intend to support the Republican Party's nominees and will participate in active campaigning for them to the best of my ability."

Nominee In 1962 Seaton, former cabinet officer in the Eisenhower administration, was the 1962 nominee, but fell to Democratic Gov. Frank Morrison in the general election.

Earlier, former Gov. Val Peterson and State Sens. Richard Marvel of Hastings and Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff backed away from the GOP race.

Learning of Seaton's announcement, Carpenter purposely withheld his announcement until after March 3, the date by which Carpenter would have had to file for the nomination as an incumbent holding a different elective office.

If Morrison stands firm against a broadened tax base, Carpenter said he will support the Democratic governor against Burney.

20 Straight Triumphs Burney, 72, has been triumphant in all 20 election contests in which he has been entered, including a 1956 victory over Morrison in a race for lieutenant governor.

The Hartington farmer-rancher served six terms in the Legislature, and has been lieutenant governor since 1936. He was governor for four months in 1960-61 upon the death of Democrat Ralph G. Brooks.

The 1964 primary will mark Burney's ninth statewide contest.

Burney said he regretted Seaton's decision, saying that he would now have to work all the harder to carry the Republican message to the voters.

-Defense Rests- STATE POKES CLAIM

... Ruby Insane

Dallas (AP)—The defense rested abruptly Wednesday at Jack Ruby's murder trial. The state then sought to demolish his claim that he was insane when he killed Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy.

Ruby, himself, did not take the witness stand. In quick succession, the state called its psychiatric experts into the courtroom of Judge Joe B. Brown for the first time in the trial. They called Ruby sane, in direct contradiction to defense testimony that he was insane when he shot down Oswald Nov. 21.

Thus the big issue in the case finally was joined 3½ months after a chain of tragedy that began when Kennedy was mortally wounded just 70 yards from the courthouse and ended when Ruby killed the accused assassin, Oswald, two days later.

To Jury Soon The state finished its rebuttal testimony in late afternoon, and the defense called four rebuttal witnesses of its own before the trial was recessed overnight. The accelerated pace of the proceeding led to expectations that the case may reach the jury by the end of the week.

One of the state's experts, Dr. Robert Stubblefield, 44, a psychiatrist at Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, was asked to judge Ruby's condition on the day he shot Oswald. He was asked to assume that all state testimony in the case was true — that Ruby cursed Oswald as the President's killer, shot him, cursed him afterward and hoped for his death, and finally declared he had been planning the shooting for two days.

"If I assume these facts," Dr. Stubblefield replied, "he would know the difference between right and wrong and he would know the nature and quality of his act."

Legally Sane In short, in Dr. Stubblefield's opinion, Ruby would have been legally sane.

Another witness, Dr. John Holbrook, 40, a Dallas psychiatrist who examined Ruby the day after Oswald's death, put it even more bluntly, without any assumption whatsoever. He testified:

"I felt he did know the difference between right and wrong and did know the nature and consequences of his act at that time."

Tuesday's defense testimony that Ruby was insane apparently brought considerable comfort to defense attorneys.

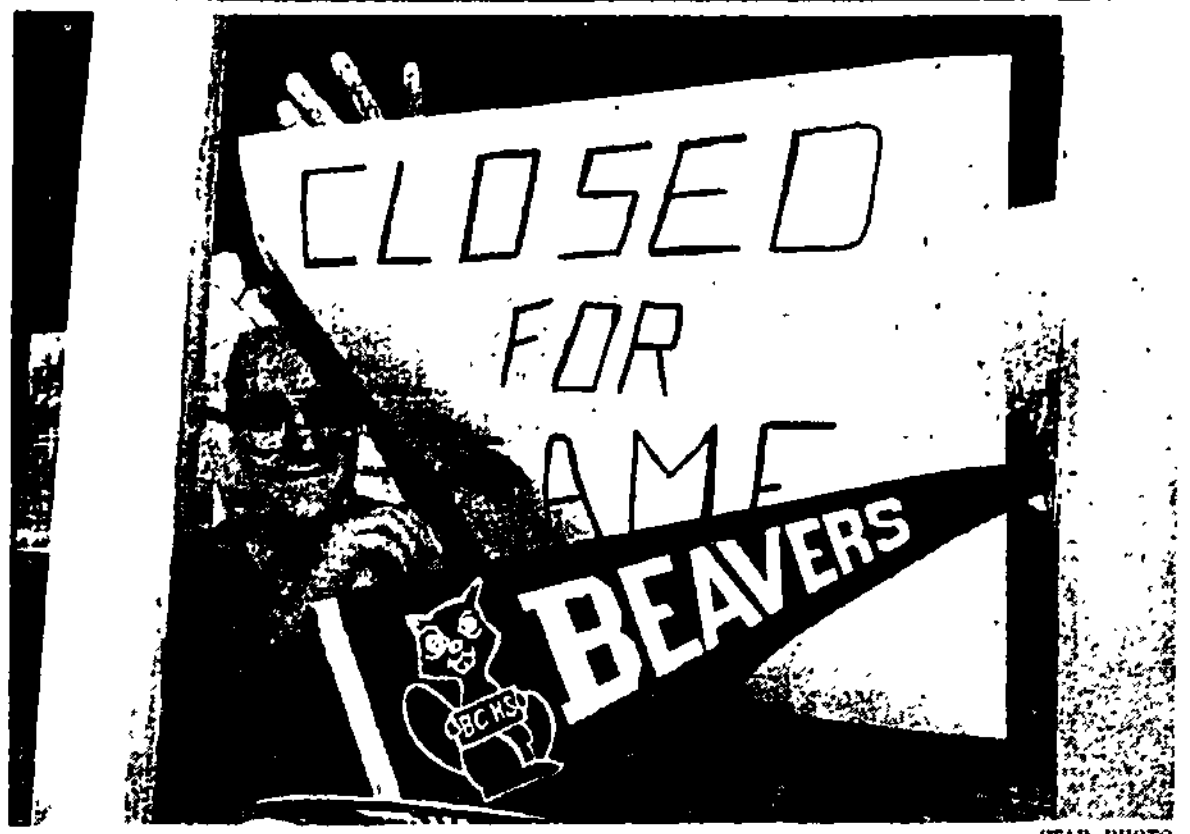

In a midnight conference, chief defense counsel Melvin Belli and his colleagues decided that they had reached a fitting climax in their insanity defense and the time had come to rest their case.

Counterattack Dist. Atty. Henry M. Wade, in state rebuttal testimony, then launched his counterattack on the insanity issue. He called as his first medical witness Dr. Sheff Olinger, a Dallas neurologist. His testimony was intended to refute the defense claim that the 52-year-old Ruby suffered psychomotor epilepsy which produced a blackout just before Oswald's slaying.

Ruby, operator of a Dallas strip tease joint, went on trial for his life Feb. 17. The state has asked a jury of four women and eight men to send him to the electric chair.

Ruby's defense is temporary insanity induced by shock over the assassination Nov. 22 of President Kennedy. Oswald had been charged with the assassination.

Top Cage Squads Clash In 54th State Tourney

By DON FORSYTHE

Prep Sports Writer

The annual three-day epidemic of "March Madness" strikes Lincoln again at noon today as 32 teams and thousands of fans converge on the Capital City for the State Basketball Tournament.

It's the 54th annual meeting for the state's top basketball teams.

The four classes play simultaneously at four sites today as first round action will trim the 32 entries to 16 semifinalists.

Sumner is one of four unbeaten teams in the Class D tourney. Others putting spottless records on the line are Maywood, Herman and Stapleton.

Herman is one of three 1963 runners-up bidding for a title this year.

Runners-Up Back Gibbon, loser to Utica in the Class C championship, and Creighton Prep, loser to Omaha Tech in the Class A championship, rate as strong contenders again this year.

Prep opens the Class A tourney against Grand Island, which carries only a 7-11 mark to Lincoln. The Islanders upset Kearney and Hol-drege to earn their state meet ticket.

Hastings, which shares with Prep the distinction of having won four straight district titles, also brings a losing record to the state meet. The Tigers (6-12) were cellar-dwellers in the East Big 10 race.

Big 10 Meeting

The Big 10 has two other representatives in the state meet in loop champion Norfolk and Alliance. They meet in the second game Thursday.

Hastings goes against Boys Town and Pius X gets a rematch with Bellevue in the evening program which could draw a capacity crowd.

The Plus X-Bellevue contest is the only first round game in the tourney which matches teams that met during the regular season.

The Thunderbolts, who dumped Southeast and Northeast to advance to the state tourney, dropped a 69-66 decision to Bellevue on the Chieftains' court in their season debut.

There's a new look in Class B. Only York was a member of the 1963 field. The Dukes, Omaha Holy Name and Ralston are seeded entries this year with the other five qualifiers each having at least five losses.

1963 Contenders Return Gibbon is joined by 1963 contenders Tecumseh, Sidney St. Patrick, Stanton and Scribner in the Class C race.

Of this year's tournament contenders Creighton Prep and Holy Name dominate the list of previous champions.

Prep has won five championships, the last coming in 1945. Holy Name is also a five-time winner in basketball competition, winning its last title in Class A under the former six-class system in 1958.

trial and educational development and progress, deserve and need the cooperative assistance of the office of lieutenant governor," the statement said.

"The lieutenant governor should stand ready to actively participate in the programs of state development. In seeking the office of lieutenant governor, I am seeking the opportunity to serve the state in this manner," Sorensen added.

Won't Take Sides

Sorensen said he has discussed his candidacy with Morrison, but that the governor will "not take sides with any candidate in the primary."

Three other Democrats have previously filed for the nomination. They are Mrs. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, Edward A. Dosek of Lincoln and former State Sen. W. H. Diers of Gresham.

Sorensen said he has not conferred with brother Ted about his plans, but will inform him of his candidacy by telephone.

Asked if he viewed the lieutenant governor's post as a "stepping stone" to higher office, Sorensen replied: "I am not making any plans past the step I am taking at this time."

Queried about his position on a broadened tax base, he said that is an issue for the Legislature to determine.

Wouldn't Fight It

However, Sorensen said, "I would not use the influence of this office to turn back a broadened tax base."

Sorensen is an honors graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Law, where he was awarded the Order of Coif and served as editor of the Nebraska Law Review.

Following graduation, he became law clerk to U.S. District Judge Robert Van Pelt, then became a member of the Lincoln law firm of Flansburg, Mattson, Field, Ricketts and Sorensen.

Sorensen To Run For Lt. Governor

Lincoln attorney Philip C. Sorensen announced Wednesday that he will file as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

Sorensen, 30, is a younger brother of Ted Sorensen, who served the late President Kennedy for 11 years as aide and advisor.

Their father, Sorensen, the late C. A. Sorensen, was Nebraska's attorney general from 1929 to 1933 and a longtime associate and advisor of the late Sen. George W. Norris.

"The lieutenant governor's position presents an opportunity to work with the governor for the State of Nebraska," Sorensen said in a brief written statement.

"Gov. Morrison's programs, including agricultural, industrial and educational development and progress, deserve and need the cooperative assistance of the office of lieutenant governor," the statement said.

"The lieutenant governor should stand ready to actively participate in the programs of state development. In seeking the office of lieutenant governor, I am seeking the opportunity to serve the state in this manner," Sorensen added.

However, Sorensen said, "I would not use the influence of this office to turn back a broadened tax base."

Lodge's Victory Likely To Enlarge GOP Field

By JACK BELL
Concord, N.H. (AP)—The unexpected New Hampshire primary victory of Henry Cabot Lodge appeared likely Wednesday to enlarge the field in the Republican presidential nomination contest.

A snowballing write-in which gave the U.S. ambassador to Viet Nam 35.4% of the vote in a contest with three major contenders could be due in part to spontaneous dissatisfaction with the present front runners for the honor of opposing President Johnson in November.

If Lodge's showing projected him into the thick of the presidential battle, it also served notice to other potential candidates, such as Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, that nobody can claim a "clear call" from the party faithful at this point.

Satisfactory

Johnson himself gained some satisfactory evidence in Democratic primary voting that he commands a core of strength in New England, regarded as one of the weak spots in his general election armor.

The President polled nearly 28,000 write-in votes. In a similar write-in Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy got more than 24,000 as a potential vice presidential candidate.

An absent, unannounced candidate, Lodge bowed over Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 presidential nominee, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Me., and Harold E. Stassen were left far behind on the snowy trail.

Complete Count

The complete, unofficial count in the non-binding preferential contest showed:

Lodge 33,521; Goldwater 21,775; Rockefeller 19,496; Nixon 15,752; Smith 2,812; Stassen 1,285.

This gave Lodge 35.4% of the total vote of 94,641, including scattered write-ins. Goldwater got 23%, Rockefeller 20.6% and Nixon 16.6%.

Delegates

Lodge collected all of the state's 14 nominating convention delegates in a separate contest. The outcome chalked up some political debit marks against a number of important state Republicans, including Sen. Norris Cotton, who managed Goldwater's campaign here.

But the Lodge victory had something of an Alice-in-Wonderland air about it. His opponents promptly labelled him a "New England favorite son," because of his Massachusetts residence. They dared him to come out fighting for the nomination.

In far away Viet Nam, where he is engaged in diplomatic tasks for the Johnson administration, Lodge learned of his victory in Hue, 400 miles north of Saigon, while on a fact-finding mission.

Won't Leave

"I do not plan to go to the United States," he said. "I do not intend to resign."

This indicated that, as of now, he personally hopes to rest his chances on the shaky possibility that there will be a convention draft. He has said that "would clearly be an imperative call to duty . . ."

While his backers jubilantly claimed the New Hampshire results made Lodge a national candidate, there was sharp dissent in other quarters.

Oregon Next

The former ambassador to the United Nations during the Eisenhower administration will face his next primary test May 15 in Oregon, where he did not act to withdraw his name as he might have done. There he will collide again with his New Hampshire opponents for a test of whether his popularity can be trans-shipped from the east to the west coast.

In New York Rockefeller said Lodge can't leave his name in the Oregon primary "and stay on as ambassador."

Lodge cabled the Oregon secretary of state, Howell Appleby Jr., that he was not a candidate for the nomination because of Foreign Service regulations.

Will Stay

But Appleby said in Salem: "He's on the Oregon ballot and will stay there."

Lodge Calls Win Honor, Compliment

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge said Wednesday he proposes to remain U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam despite his upset victory in New Hampshire's Republican presidential primary — "A great honor and a great compliment."

"I do not plan to go to the United States," Lodge told newsmen after receiving word of the outcome while he was on a field trip with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara in Hue, 400 miles north of Saigon.

"I do not plan to leave Saigon," he said on returning to this city. "I do not intend to resign."

"I am bound by Foreign Service regulations not to comment."

Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, the premier-strongman who accompanied Lodge on the field trip, said that "Unfortunately, he is now the No. 1 man."

"If he would return it would be a great loss to Viet Nam," Khanh said. "I asked him to stay until he is elected president and then go."

Lodge laughed.

Hampshire results as those of only a preliminary skirmish.

Goldwater commented that the "Lodge name is a difficult one to cope with in New Hampshire, and there were so many candidates."

Some Solace

New York Republican Chairman Fred A. Young professed in Albany to find some solace in the outcome. He said the New Hampshire vote "definitely restores Gov. Rockefeller as a prime contender for the presidential nomination."

Although his showing may have muted somewhat the undercurrent of opposition to Rockefeller's divorce and marriage to a divorced mother of four children, few GOP politicians went along with Young's assessment.

The general feeling seemed to be that Goldwater and Rockefeller had been cut down to size as merely a couple of contenders who were struggling along in a field where anyone who was running—and some who were not—could break the tape as a winner in July.

Respect

There remained respect for the latent strength that Nixon had shown in a primary where the efforts for him were less than maximum. His 16.6% of the total vote seemed to represent a solid core of strength left over from 1960. Nixon has said he will be available if his party wants him but he isn't campaigning.

The 4,000 vote margin by which Johnson's write-ins topped those for Kennedy served to quiet fears among the President's supporters that he might wind up on the short end in a state bordering on the attorney general's home bailiwick of Massachusetts.

Those who might have hoped for a demonstration which would tend to force Johnson's hand in the selection of his running mate apparently failed in this objective.

Barber Stabbed For Bad Haircut

Philadelphia (AP)—Angelo Fontanazza, 32, a barber, was stabbed fatally Wednesday by a man who complained about a haircut given him two weeks ago, police said.

A man identified as Joseph Margel, 35, was captured a short time later.

Capt. Joseph Golden of the homicide squad said Margel told police he "was mad at him (Fontanazza) for having given him a bad haircut . . . two weeks ago."

Tired Refugees Wait For Ohio's Crest

Cincinnati (AP)—Thousands of tired refugees waited Wednesday as the Ohio River crept towards a crest of 66½ feet — fourth highest in recent history for its middle course.

The Red Cross estimated more than 100,000 persons in five states have so far been affected by the flood. It said some 12,000 persons are receiving care at 53 shelters on the big river and some of its tributaries. Damage was expected to run into the millions of dollars.

As the first reports of the Ohio's dropping began to come in — from East Liverpool, Ohio — the Weather Bureau revised its crest forecast at Cincinnati.

Few Showers

The latest forecast said the Ohio will reach 66½ feet—14½ above flood stage — early Thursday, remain stationary until Friday morning, and then begin to drop. A spokesman said there may be a few scattered showers in the Ohio Valley. "But nothing significant as far as the river is concerned."

Gov. Matthew E. Welsh of Indiana asked President Johnson to declare 15 southern counties disaster areas, and Gov. Edward T. Breathitt said he would seek the same designation for 30 Kentucky counties.

Red Cross figures indicated Ohio and West Virginia were the hardest hit. The agency's national headquarters said 15,000 families in 21 Ohio counties had been affected by the muddy waters and the same was true of 1,350 West Virginia families in 14 counties.

More to Come

affected 2,575 families in 15 counties, while Kentucky and Indiana — where the highest levels still are to come—had 5,000 and 3,250 flood-hit families respectively.

The flood was blamed for at least seven deaths in Ohio alone.

Elsewhere, authorities appealed to the curious to stay away from flooded areas. Evacuation was completed in most places where the crest is yet to hit, and police were concerned about possible looting.

State police departments, national guardsmen, army reservists and even soldiers from Nike guided missile bases — such as the one at Felicity, Ohio—pitched in to help.

As some of the tributaries passed their crests, the first refugees returned to their homes and here and there a Red Cross shelter was closed.

Mac Readying Report On War

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara began work Wednesday on a report he will present to President Johnson on the South Vietnamese war.

McNamara's spokesman, Arthur Sylvester, told newsmen that his chief had discussed tentative conclusions of his appraisals here with the Vietnamese premier, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

These discussions took place during a plane trip to and from the northern capital of Hue where both McNamara and Khanh addressed the cheering crowds earlier in the day.

Whirlwind

Sylvester said McNamara, who began a whirlwind study of the Vietnamese situation after he arrived Sunday, also discussed with Khanh recommendations he will make to President Johnson.

Sylvester declined to discuss any of McNamara's findings or possible recommendations. But U.S. sources reported that the defense chief will tell Johnson that the present high level of U.S. aid to Viet Nam will have to continue and possibly be increased in some areas if Communist insurgency is to be put down.

McNamara also is expected to express confidence in Khanh, who took power in a bloodless coup Jan. 30.

Scheduled

The McNamara party is scheduled to leave for home Thursday night, Sylvester said.

After discussing his conclusions with Khanh, McNamara worked on his presidential report late Wednesday afternoon, Sylvester said. He is expected to continue his work Thursday and will have final discussions with Khanh before leaving.

The report will represent views of the whole McNamara party, Sylvester said. The 14-man group has ranged throughout the country during the visit.

Out-Of-Character

McNamara himself has played an out-of-character role during his visit here, traveling around the countryside drumming up support for Khanh. Shouting Vietnamese slogans, gesticulating with his arms, patting babies' heads and twirling girls' cheeks, McNamara appeared as though he was personally campaigning.

McNamara has clearly stated and restated a U.S. determination to keep supporting the fight in Viet Nam until final victory. At Hue he promised economic and military assistance "now, and forever."

McNamara relaxed briefly and strolled down fashionable Rue Catat in Saigon in khaki bush jacket and ski boots he had worn on his earlier field trip. He was not recognized by passersby.

... Stops Briefly In Grand Island

Grand Island (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, looking somewhat tired, but outwardly confident and cheerful, stopped briefly in Grand Island Wednesday en route to California.

There he will continue his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination which got a jolt in New Hampshire Tuesday when he ran third behind Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

'Not Discouraged'

The New York governor said he was disappointed but not discouraged over his showing in New Hampshire and called on Lodge to "come home and take his position on issues."

Romans Still Undecided On Governorship

Ord (AP)—Former State Sen. Jack Romans of Ord remained undecided Wednesday about seeking the Republican nomination for governor.

There have been efforts on the part of backers to get him into the race and he said he had been giving it serious consideration.

Romans conceded that had Fred Seaton of Hastings entered the race, he definitely would not have considered becoming a candidate himself. He added that Seaton's decision still does not mean that he will decide to become a candidate.

"I do believe the people of Nebraska should have a chance to vote for a candidate who opposes the sales and income tax," Romans said.

Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney, best known of the four acknowledged candidates, is an advocate of a broadened tax base.

Romans said he now plans to consult with friends before coming to a firm decision.

Romans served in the 1950 and 1961 sessions of the unicameral.

Mexico Busts Big Dope Ring

Mexico City (AP)—Federal police said Wednesday they have smashed the biggest international heroin dope ring in Mexico's history, seizing five million pesos ($400,000) worth of the drug and arresting 19 persons.

A police spokesman said it was believed the heroin was destined for sale in the United States but that no firm U.S. connection had been established.

Extended Forecasts

NEBRASKA: For the five-day period, Thursday through Monday, temperatures will average three to six degrees above normal. Warmer on Thursday, colder Friday and warmer again Saturday or Sunday. Normal highs are 41 to 49. Normal lows are 21 to 32. Little or no precipitation is indicated.

KANSAS: For the five-day period, Thursday through Monday, temperatures will average three to six degrees above normal. Warmer on Thursday, colder Friday and warmer again Saturday or Sunday. Normal highs are 49 to 56. Normal lows are 21 to 34. Little or no precipitation is indicated.

Summary of Conditions

The low pressure area more or less responsible for bringing about the very light snow in the Omaha area Wednesday is centered in extreme southern Illinois and still bringing snow into northern Missouri and the northern two-thirds of Illinois. There is a sort of low trough from northeastern Colorado back through northeastern Wyoming into north central Montana and should enhance some more warming in Nebraska Thursday and in eastern Nebraska and western Iowa Thursday night.

A new Pacific cold front oriented this evening from eastern Washington to the northern California coast should move to about the western north Dakota border and extend down into northern Utah by Thursday night and should be pushing slowly through eastern Nebraska communities sometime during the daylight hours Friday morning. This will mean some cooling on Friday for eastern Nebraska and western Iowa and a few local sprinkles of light rain are likely to occur Friday associated with this front.

'Miss Nebraska Wool' Watches Shearing

All eyes turned from shearing sheep to 'Miss Nebraska Wool' when that young lady, Rosalie Hoffman of Lincoln, paid a visit to the University of Nebraska's annual sheep shearing school, under way this week. Miss Hoffman, a senior at the University of Nebraska, was amazed at the bustle of activity as 31 enrollees in the sheep shearing school wrestled with animals unwilling to part with their fleeces. She stopped to inspect work done by Pat Classen of Bellevue, holding a sheep, and another participant, Leslie Smith of West Point. (U of N Photo)

Planners Reaffirm Support For Downtown Lincoln Plan

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The city-county Planning Commission Wednesday reaffirmed its endorsement of the Barton-Aschmann plan for downtown Lincoln as incorporated in the 1960 Regional Comprehensive Plan.

The endorsement "of the five principal concepts" for the Lincoln center included the 15th and O site for the city-county building, street plan with perimeter one-way streets, 15th St. civic center, expansion of University of Nebraska and related activities to Q, and the compact core area.

The commission commended the mayor and city council for efforts to revitalize the plan and expressed hope that aggressive action could be initiated.

The commission vote for adoption of the resolution was 8-1.

Voting in favor were Chair-

9.7 MILLION INCOME TAX REFUNDS SENT

Washington (AP)—About 9.7 million income tax refunds were sent out in the first two months of 1964, the Internal Revenue Service said Wednesday.

The figure was 7.1% higher than the 9.1 million refunds mailed to taxpayers in the first 60 days of 1963. The value of the refunds was $1.3 billion compared to $1.1 billion for the comparable 1963 period.

More than 40 million refunds totaling about $5.5 billion were sent to taxpayers in 1963.

The IRS said faster processing of refunds this year was due to its new electronic computer system.

man E. J. Faulkner, Chester Dobbs, F. Pace Woods, Frank White, Jerry Warner, Roy M. Green, Mrs. J. Edmunds Miller and Stanley Sands.

Edwin C. Perry dissented from the vote for the stated reason that he didn't favor the 15th and O site for the city-county building.

Warner favored the majority view generally, but commented he would favor the 10th and J site (present courthouse location) if "no county building at all" were the only alternative.

White also indicated his position was similar to Warner's.

The commission noted it favors the 15th and O site, but has not endorsed the Barton-Aschmann concept that it straddle O.

In other action, the commission recommended:

—denial of four-family dwelling zoning for nine lots on Furnas between 11th and 12th as requested by the Belmont Construction Co. Thirteen property owners in the area advised the commission they objected to any change.

—approval of highway commercial zoning of two blocks on Helen (No. 19th extended) between Nelson and Judson, requested by Empire Construction Co. and proposed for the relocation of a trailer court.

—deferral of a local business zoning request for a small tract near 33rd and Pioneer and adjoining Neb. 2 until city and state plans for the Pioneer cutoff to Neb. 2 could be determined. The zoning change was requested by Robert E. Allen.

—denial of local business zoning extension of property west of 7th and south of Pioneer, requested by Allen. The planning director reported no objections to a special permit for off-street parking, but recommended against any zoning change.

—deferral of final plat of McCook's Addition, a replat near 62nd and Newton.

—deferral of a preliminary plat of Walnut Heights, an average subdivision within the three-mile district, for further information on street design and grades.

Federal Pay Hike Bill 'Unjustified'

Washington (AP)—Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., said Wednesday the federal pay increase bill would make an unwarranted raid on the national treasury at a time taxpayers already are overburdened.

He not only intends to vote against the measure, he said, but also expects to help obtain a roll call vote on it.

The bill is to be considered in the House this week.

"To add $600 million in additional operating expenses for our federal government is an insult to the American taxpayer," Martin said in a statement.

"With passage of the tax reduction bill recently that reduced federal revenues by over $11 billion a year, it is completely irresponsible to further increase the cost of our government."

The bill would raise salaries of approximately 1,130,000 federal employees, including increases of $10,000 a year for Cabinet members, federal judges, assistant cabinet secretaries and members of Congress.

"This is not justified," Martin said.

He said the present economic climate reflects high unemployment, a huge national debt, inflation, the largest federal expenditure to be authorized by Congress in peacetime and "another yawning federal deficit."

"This is not the proper time to grant additional pay increases to federal employees and top government executives which will cost over $600 million annually," he declared.

Wilson Fellowships To 3 NU Seniors, 2 Grads

Princeton, N.J. (UPI)—Three University of Nebraska seniors and two graduates have been named among winners of Woodrow Wilson fellowships for graduate study at the schools of their choice next fall.

The Nebraskans named are:

Maureen Frolik, a senior, who will do graduate work in French. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Frolik of Lincoln.

Roger B. Henkle, a 1956 graduate in English and a graduate of the Harvard Law School, who is a practicing lawyer in Oklahoma City. He plans to do graduate work in English. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Henkle of Lincoln.

Donald Kummer, a senior, who will do graduate work in physics. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kummer of Ogallala.

Frederick D. McEvoy, a February, 1964, graduate, who will study anthropology. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jesse McEvoy of North Platte.

Ronald L. Rogowski, a senior.

Madison, Wis. (UPI)—

The Dane County Republican Club, second largest in the state, defeated an attempt to put the organization on record in favor of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., for the GOP presidential nomination.

Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Goes To Doane Senior

Crete —John Perry, Doane senior, was named as a recipient of a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship by officials of that foundation.

Perry, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Perry, Lincoln, has attended Doane throughout his collegiate career.

Currently president of the Doane Student Council, Perry served as editor of the Owl, Doane College newspaper, last year. He is a member of Phi Alpha Theta, honorary history society, and was elected to the honorary freshman men's society, Phi Eta Sigma.

The Woodrow Wilson Fellowships provide full tuition and fees for the first year at the graduate school of the recipient's choice, as well as a stipend of $1,800 and dependency allowances.

New Hampshire Political Pot

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The big unknown factor in the New Hampshire primary results is whether they show an affirmative or negative situation. Perhaps it is both. Perhaps there was a combination of disillusionment with the avowed GOP candidates for president and a real sentiment in favor of late comer Henry Cabot Lodge, presently this country's ambassador to South Viet Nam.

That, however, will be the question the experts will be trying to answer between now and the next major elections. It could well be that the above combination provides the best analysis of the first presidential trial run for the Republican party. Of one thing there can be no question—the results were a profound setback for the hopes of Sen. Barry Goldwater whose campaign only lost him much of the popular support he enjoyed in the early going. Until the end of last week there was hardly an observer of the scene who considered it likely or even possible that Goldwater would be defeated.

If there were any such thought, it drifted in the direction of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, who also suffered a severe loss in New Hampshire. Certainly, it was a real and major upset for Lodge to come out with a substantial plurality over all the other Republican hopefuls on the New Hampshire ballot.

It has been widely believed that Rockefeller has not and will not be able to get his campaign rolling in high enough gear to take the GOP nomination. His personal family difficulties have proven to be a handicap which appears more and more, as time goes by, to be insurmountable, regardless of the justice of the situation.

New Hampshire offered convincing support of this analysis of Rockefeller's present position. It was believed, of course, that Goldwater had lost some ground in the primary campaign but it was believed that he would still bring home a victory over Rockefeller. Had the write-in effort in behalf of Lodge not been injected into the campaign, Goldwater probably would have won. But New Hampshire voters eagerly turned to Lodge for what he was himself as well as for an alternative to the other choices that faced them. How badly they wanted Lodge is hard to say but it is evident that they did not want Rockefeller or Goldwater.

Again, many observers will say that Goldwater was his own worst enemy and his faults are such that he has little chance of correcting them in time for any nominating race at the GOP national convention in July. He was criticized, even by his supporters, as having a woeful lack of knowledge of public affairs, both domestic and international. One time after another, Goldwater stuck his foot in his mouth with erroneous statements on which he was forced to back down. Other times, he equivocated to the point where even his supporters were not sure of where he stood. Thus, he left many voters confused and uncertain or downright disappointed with him.

This is to say nothing of the basic political philosophy of the Arizona senator—a philosophy that is far from having the broad base of public support that is essential for a presidential victory in this country. It is most doubtful that Goldwater would have a chance even if he were well informed and a good campaigner but with so many things now stacked against him, it is inconceivable that he could defeat President Lyndon B. Johnson.

In contrast, Lodge has many of these same things in reverse working for him. He is a product of the Eisenhower presidential years, a moderate Republican with full comprehension of this nation's role in world affairs and the role of the federal government on the domestic scene.

Lodge would not be at odds with the main stream of current popular thought in the country, although he would differ—sometimes substantially—with the Democratic party on the means of molding that thought into actions. Nor would Lodge ever make the factual blunders in discussion of public affairs that have marked Goldwater's campaign. Lodge would be informed, thoughtful and logical. As to the ambassador's campaigning ability, this was not favorably demonstrated when he was a running mate with the Republican standard-bearer of 1960, Richard Nixon.

However, it is difficult to assess the campaigning ability of a vice presidential candidate because so much depends upon the No. 1 man. How far Lodge could go against President Johnson is a question that New Hampshire did not answer but he has clearly taken the GOP nominating spotlight at this time and could well hold that position through victory in July in San Francisco.

No Guilt In REA

The president of the Nebraska Rural Electric Association has expressed consternation over some farmer and farm organization opposition to prevailing low interest rate rural electrification loans. Whether it is so intended or not, he said, an increase in interest on such loans would mean the elimination of the program entirely.

The speaker, John Meyer of Smithfield, noted that "I only deplore that some farmers, for political or other reasons, oppose a program which has done more than any other thing to improve living conditions on the farm. This program has not outlived its need." Taking Mr. Meyer's position one step further, how can one oppose a program that has done so much for the nation?

Agriculture has a curious way of looking down upon itself—a kind of guilt complex by which it seems to seek every means of defeating itself. It fails miserably to recognize and talk about the vital part it plays in the economic and social affairs of the nation.

If agriculture is assisted in some way, it adopts the attitude that it is getting something to which it is not entitled. Rather, it should realize that it is helped only in measure of its potential contribution to its area and its nation. It should realize that in feeding the people of the nation and many throughout the world and in being a market place for the products of industry, it is making a much larger contribution to society than it is taking out or back for itself.

Farm people should stop looking on only the liability side of agriculture and take more pride and give greater voice to its assets. Their opposition to constructive agricultural programs is a form of public breast-beating that is out of character and out of truth.

Case Of Dr. Kawaski

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch tells a poignant story involving nonsense written into the national immigration act.

Dr. Masashi Kawaski, is a renowned otolaryngologist, a citizen of Canada, and a leader in research on cancer of the throat. Washington University of St. Louis was fortunate enough to obtain his services. He has continued his work there, contributing valuable discoveries, aiding the search for control or cure of cancer. This work is close to the hearts of 180 million Americans and a billion or so others around the world.

Dr. Kawaski was able to enter the United States under an exchange program. Now his time is running out and he may have to leave the country. The immigration act is against him. He may be a Canadian citizen but he is of an oriental race. The act supports a synthetic blood test operating against one of 50 per cent or more oriental blood. Because of that Dr. Kawaski belongs to a race which enjoys practically no immigration quota. It would be ever so long before he could enter the United States as an oriental.

At this juncture there is a special bill in Congress hoping to make an exception of the valued doctor. It may be approved. But it still does nothing against the immigration act's discriminatory position against other racial representatives whose need to the country might equal that of Dr. Kawaski.

The Post-Dispatch is properly aroused by this instance of prejudiced nonsense. It is wrong to interrupt such a needed piece of research as Dr. Kawaski is performing, and by no stretch of imagination can his presence in this country be construed as detrimental. We hope the special bill protects him. But better would be a sensible overhaul of our immigration law.

Happy Birthday

This day dawns as one of special significance for more than 2 million American young girls.

This is so because it is the 52nd anniversary of the organization of the Girl Scouts of America. That happy action was instituted by Mrs. Juliette Gordon Low, a Savannah, Georgia, woman. She became first president of the national movement and remained active in its affairs until her retirement in 1920.

The American Girl Scouts are associated with an international movement known as Scouting, founded by Sir Robert Baden-Powell in Great Britain in 1910. The Boy Scouts is a brother organization.

While Scouting is an international youth activity at heart it represents what is most desirable in the Western way of life. It emphasizes character traits which build on individual freedom and teaches how to use it for ideal citizenship and a noble upward moving world.

The Girl Scouts obey ten laws which include honor, loyalty, usefulness, universal friendship, courtesy, obedience, good cheer, thrift, cleanliness of mind and action and gentleness with animals. If these were practiced by nations and adults almost all of our world problems would collapse. That is an idealization and a state of life hard to attain but it has to be worked at if the civilized world is going to get anywhere. And time shows that there are steady net gains.

It is obvious that the Scout movement is popular with young folks. It fits neatly into their estate of youth. But it is probably the parents who are most grateful for it. Parents love their children and have high hopes for them. But they realize they have to help friendly help outside the home. The Girl Scouts provide some of that. That explains why there are more than 600,000 adults active in varying degrees in this branch of the scouting movement. So, happy birthday.

DREW PEARSON McMillan's Trail Crosses Baker's

EDITOR'S NOTE — Drew Pearson is overseas. In his absence the column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON—The shadow of Congressman John McMillan, D-S.C., keeps falling across the tangled trails of the Bobby Baker investigations.

Not only the irrepressible Bobby, but his chief accusers, once belonged to the tight little circle of South Carolinians who buzzed around McMillan.

The congressman is a rump, balding, cracker-barrel politician from Florence, S.C., who moves at an unhurried gait and speaks in a soft, slow drawl. As chairman of the House District of Columbia Committee, he is a power in Washington's municipal government.

He has a penchant for befriending bright, young men from South Carolina who want to make a fast buck. One was Bobby Baker, the pride of Pickens, whose wheezing and dealing has now become front-page news.

Another was Ralph Hill, onetime greenhorn from Greensboro, who blew the whistle on Baker, charging in a lawsuit that Bobby had doublecrossed him in a vending machine deal.

Then there was Don Reynolds from Lamar, who obtained discount automobiles and stereo sets for his influential friends. Reynolds also turned on Baker, delivering lurid testimony against him.

All three were entangled with "Mac," as they called McMillan, in a web of deals, dolls and dollars.

Hill has boasted, for instance, that he borrowed $3,000 from McMillan to start the Capitol Vending Company. The congressman obligingly helped arrange locations in government buildings, according to one affidavit, for Capitol's cigarette, candy, and coffee machines.

At the same time, McMillan sent his assistant, Clayton Gasque, to be the company's secretary-treasurer. Gasque cheerfully divided his time between the District of Columbia Committee and the vending company doing business with the District of Columbia.

He also drove a company car until this column questioned him about it.

"I drove it yesterday, but I won't be driving it today," he blurted.

McMillan and Reynolds also have been scratching each other's backs. Reynolds arranged the bank mortgage for the congressman's home in Arlington, Va., also obtained a Ford convertible for him as far back as 1950. In turn, McMillan bought insurance from Reynolds.

MARQUIS CHILDS GOP Sees Hope In Cabot Lodge

WASHINGTON—The story goes that 10 days after Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. began to serve as America's delegate to the United Nations in 1953 he said to a friend, "Say, this is a great job. You get your picture on page 1 of the New York Times every day."

That story is probably apocryphal and, in any event, it is unfair to Lodge. But as told by his sour critics it reflects a resentment of the handsome Bostonian's predilection for striking the right pose at the right moment.

At any point from the first of the year on he could have stopped the movement to write his name in on the New Hampshire primary ballot. A firm cablegram disavowing the write-in campaign, made public when sent, would have done it. That would have put a stop to the barrage of telephone calls and cables from the United States from friends, supporters and doubters that made some claim on the time of the American ambassador to Saigon in the midst of a difficult and delicate assignment.

When the Lodge campaign was first sparked by admirers in the public relations business, the idea that he could be seriously put forward as a candidate for the Republican nomination seemed preposterous. The professionals in the party were cold or hostile. To the right wing he was "worse than Rockefeller."

Lodge was a name to grasp at by those who didn't want to vote for either Sen. Barry Goldwater or Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. He was a respectable form of protest and a vague portent of something hopeful on the horizon for November. This seemed to show the uncertainty and confusion within Republican ranks. The party rank and file were groping for a point of unity in the face of their own disarray and the massive showing of President Johnson in the polls.

In the intervening months Lodge has not lacked for eager partisans who have assured us that he wants the nomination and at the appropriate time will go all out for it. This raises disturbing questions about his present role in a moment of critical decision in the conflict in South Viet Nam.

One may ask in the first place why he took the ambassadorship when to many he seemed to be offering himself as a Republican sacrifice for the dilemma of a Democratic administration—a kind of share-the-blame for whatever dire eventuality might develop. The initiative came in the first instance from Lodge who sent word to the late President Kennedy that he would like some form of public service. He had been bored in various showy and more or less empty nonpolitical offices.

One of the President's staff went to talk with Lodge. The ambassadorship to South Viet Nam was shortly to be vacant. Would Lodge be interested? Yes, he would. The appointment followed, the announcement coming when Kennedy was in Germany in June on what was to be his last important mission abroad.

What the Lodge supporters have been saying in recent weeks is that if foreign policy is to be the principal issue in the presidential campaign Lodge is obviously the best qualified candidate.

BIBLE WORDS THAT GUIDE ME

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. Luke 2:11 King James Version

By MARK W. CLARK
President of The Citadel,
The Military College of South Carolina

As I have progressed from one phase of my life to another, different scriptural texts have appealed to me at various moments. At one point a certain scripture would serve best to comfort me and to give me resolution, whereas in another year a completely different text might fill the same need.

On Christmas, 1962, I was reawakened to the beauty of the Christmas story as found in Luke. My renewed interest in this portion of the Bible came about quite naturally. The Citadel Religious Council planned a Christmas program for our students at The Citadel and their guests. Featured in this spiritual emphasis program were the cadet voices of The Citadel Choir and the Glee Club from a local girls' school. I was asked to read the scripture.

On the night of our service we were amazed to find that our huge, beautiful chapel was packed with people. There was a complex traffic jam on our campus, and people were crowding the entrances to the chapel in an effort to hear the music. We had reserved areas in which the choir could sit when not singing, but the press of the crowd became so great that we permitted guests to take these areas and the members of the choir agreed to remain standing throughout the program.

Because of this incident, and the fact that I received a tremendous "lift" from this scripture at a time when my spirits were low, I can say that today it is my favorite text, while knowing that tomorrow in another situation a new text may come to mean just as much in my life.

Mark W. Clark, who was Supreme Commander of the United Nations in the Far East 1949-52, culminated a soldier's career in two world wars by bringing about an armistice in Korea.

But he did not consider the truce either a victory or a defeat. He called the achievement the most "frustrating, tedious, and disheartening task" that had been given him in his 40 years in uniform.

The tall, ramrod-straight West Pointer had dealt with the Red Army in Austria, with Russian diplomats in Moscow, and with Chinese and North Korean Communist leaders in Panmunjom.

When General Clark retired from the Army in 1953 he accepted the presidency of The Citadel, The Military College of South Carolina, in Charleston.

General Clark, who was wounded in World War I, was the leader of a thrill-packed secret mission by submarine to North Africa just before the 1942 invasion there. The mission was successful—but his group barely escaped capture and he, himself, was thrown into the sea when a small boat capsized.

After the North Africa victory, General Clark commanded the major forces in the Italian campaign, and his Fifth Army captured Rome; the first enemy capital to fall to the Allies. The Fifth was the first American Army to be activated in the European theater and it saw some of the hardest fighting of the war.

Why The Secrecy?
Lincoln, Neb.
Mayor Dean Petersen last August employed a local attorney as special counsel on power matters at $1,000 per month. Why all the secrecy in the past months? Who let the cat out of the bag?
The news media deserve to be commended for securing the facts of the case and making them public.
I do not believe a city's present city legal staff to be incompetent or so overworked that they were unable to handle this matter. Unfortunately many of our elected officials take the position that they couldn't care less what the public thinks and assume all will be forgotten when their term of office expires and they come up for re-election.
Judging from what comes out of City Hall, the present structure should prove adequate.
O. W. MILLER

The Punishment
Lincoln, Neb.
It may have been noticed that although much of the countryside around us has had plenty of precipitation, Lincoln has been pretty consistently bypassed all fall and winter by rain and snow for long enough now that the effects are beginning to show.
Has it occurred to anyone in authority that perhaps we are being punished for the namby-pamby shilly-shallying of the City Council on the liquor question? If there are moral questions, they should be faced instead of dodged.
"Be not deceived; God is not mocked." (Galatians 6:7)
BEULAH FERNSEHER

According To Law
Lincoln, Neb.
It is regrettable that you did not recognize that you were promoting dangerous logic in your editorial of March 10, "Kid Glove Treatment." Your stated position was that it was more important to teach children to respect law-enforcement officers than to be concerned with legal rights.
Restated: It is more important for us to respect policemen than it is for policemen to respect the law. Says our Editor-Torquemada, "We'll make sweet Christians of these heretics if we have to burn every last one of them at the stake to do it. The good end I have in view justifies these means even though I admit that they are wrong."
We join you in your hope that all citizens will keep the law and respect law-enforcement officials. We support any proper efforts to further this end. We leave you when you argue that good ends can be properly supported by means slightly, oh, every so cost of the added police officers necessary in event of extension. In spite of all, the council voted to extend the area in which liquor can be sold. The action is beyond belief!

But we are not discouraged. Easter is only a few days away and this is an Easter for consecration and action. There are forces that can bring about repeal of this unacceptable ordinance; God has His own way of defeating evil. But we must do our part in prayer and cooperation.

Let us thank God for the three council members who voted against the ordinance and give 100% cooperation to every group that opposes extension of accidents, crime and temptation in our beautiful city.

WINNIFRED LEWIS

Hruska, Curtis Votes
Crete, Neb.
Debate on the civil rights bill has started now in the Senate. Senator Hruska has come out openly opposing the bill, specifically the public accommodations section, in spite of the fact that our own Nebraska Legislature passed a public accommodations bill. Senator Curtis, who has a long record of "No" votes, will also vote against it.

Furthermore, in the past a total of 15 civil rights measures have been stripped of their effectiveness by southern senators because certain of our midwestern senators voted with the South to continue the filibuster! As recently as February 7, 1963, Curtis and Hruska numbered in this group.

Unless concerned people can prevail upon these men to change their present attitude, Nebraska will be voting as one with the southern white supremacists. A disgrace and a disaster.

Vegetarianism Does Not Seem To Enhance Longevity

By ROBERT PETERSON

The more one studies geriatrics, the less certain one becomes as to factors which can be depended upon to extend the life span.

There is a particularly enthusiastic school which claims vegetarianism not only enhances health but extends longevity. Two of its most outspoken disciples have been Dugald Semple of Scotland, head of the World Vegetarian Congress, and Symon Gould of New York, president of the American Vegetarian Society.

Four years ago, tall, slender Semple, who was then 75, called at my office while on a lecture tour in the U.S. He was accompanied by short, stocky Gould and the three of us had a pleasant chat during which these two distinguished and intelligent vegetarians expressed their belief that the uric acid in meat is harmful to human tissue. They claimed that meat is more difficult to digest and places an unnatural burden on human organs, and they cited Biblical evidence that men are intended to eat vegetables rather than flesh.

Both men spoke with such authority and conviction, and appeared to be such vigorous specimens themselves, that they almost convinced me vegetarianism might conceivably be the route best calculated to assure man of reaching the century mark.

But a couple of months ago I picked up the paper and read the sad news that Gould had passed on at the age of 69 of a stomach malignancy. And by strange coincidence there was the news last week that Semple had succumbed to a respiratory ailment in Edinburgh, Scotland, at the age of 79.

Which state has the highest proportion of elders? Arizona, California, or Florida? No, according to the 1960 Census it's Iowa—with 11.9% of its residents past 65.

Next are Missouri, 11.7%, Nebraska, 11.6%, New Hampshire, Vermont, and Florida each with 11.2%; Massachusetts, 11.1%; and Kansas and Maine each with 11%.

For the nation as a whole, 9.2% of the population is 65 years old and over.

The states with the lowest proportion of persons 65 and over are Alaska and Hawaii, with 2.4% and 4.6, respectively.

In a book of quotations I came upon Jonathan Swift's line, "He was a bold man who first ate an oyster."

The line struck home because I was 21 and fresh from the Midwest when a prodigal cousin in New York took me to a seafood dinner which included oysters on the half shell.

I stared at the glistening, squishy-looking bivalves, and then watched with horror as my host picked the wet, drippy things out of the shell with his fork and popped them into his mouth.

He insisted that I eat at least one—but I couldn't do it. The years passed, however, and as I came to realize that decent, civilized folk did indeed eat raw oysters I managed to sample a few. And that's the way habits begin. Today they're my favorite appetizer.

If you would like a booklet "Some Low Cost Retirement Plans" write to this column c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Sunday Closing Said Class Legislation

State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff asserted Wednesday the state Sunday closing law, LB710, is class legislation and unconstitutional.

The declaration was made in a brief filed with the Nebraska Supreme Court in the case testing the validity of the act passed by the 1963 legislature.

The brief argued the Legislature can enact a constitutional Sunday closing law if it makes Sunday a day of rest for all. It said several laws tested in the U.S. Supreme Court have been held valid because "they did just that; everybody stayed home from work on Sunday."

The Nebraska law provides that stores operated by two full time persons (the owner and his wife, for instance) and not more than one part time employee, may remain open seven days a week. It also allows those who conscientiously observe Saturday as the Sabbath to remain open Sunday.

"Equal protection of the laws is a mandate which LB710 cannot meet," Carpen-ter's brief said. "LB710 is patchwork. It cannot seriously affect the evil it seeks to remedy."

The Scottsbluff County District Court held the law invalid in a suit brought by the county against Carpenter, Inc., a corporation owned by the state senator.

The law was enacted by the Legislature with the so-called saving clause, meaning one section could be struck down without the whole act being declared invalid.

However, Carpenter's brief said:

"When the invalid portion of an act is so interwoven with the rest that the act may not be operative with the void part eliminated, or where it's obvious from an inspection of the act that the invalid part formed the inducement for the act's passage, the whole act fails."

POSTCARD by Stan

Let us pause for a breath of Spring. The fragrance of wood violets and auto exhausts on the way to the weekend.

Let us speak of man-made delights.

"Do men like perfume?" asks the ladies' magazine. I immediately answer myself: "They certainly must or so women wouldn't be buying so much of it."

Now, now. Temper, temper. Count 10 before you speak.

One hilarious thing about this statement is that I buy more perfume than most dolls could swim over.

I rarely move without a flight bag loaded with perfume.

I don't wear this perfume. I just buy it.

"Oh, are you going to Paris? Would you please pick me up a little bottle of Nuit de Cheesestraw. It is so much cheaper there. I wouldn't bother you but . . ."

It turns out what this lady means by a little bottle is a little bottle all right. But she wants a gallon of the matching cologne, too.

You can't put perfume in the belly of the plane. It might blow a cork. Also the porters might drop it.

Just Easy Lessons

Chattanooga, P. — When Mike Pont wanted to learn to fly, his Dad taught him—and he became Chattanooga's youngest solo pilot on his 16th birthday. But when he got his driver's license a day later, he went with a professional teacher. Father Al Pont, a civilian flight instructor, said he hadn't wanted to tackle trying to teach his son to drive a car.

That is why my back is bent and I am gray, dear hearts. Packing perfume.

Here are the ads in the magazine for ladies. The doll is sitting on piano bench. She is reeking of "Moment of Madness." She is smelling up the whole scatter with this scent.

Beside her is a long-hair who was practicing his violin lessons. He has just caught a whiff of the chick and is showing a lot of white of eye.

His mind is not on his work and he is attempting to put a half-Nelson on her. Beethoven will miss a few whole notes this eve.

This is what magazines tell ladies that perfume does to gents. They believe it.

Another gallon goes into the flight bag. Forward come the letters to my hotel in the free port. To Paris or Hong Kong or Mexico. (Why are ladies convinced that they must have their perfume bought by traveling gentlemen who are already five pounds overweight? Paying the porter not to weigh in the typewriter?)

You bring home this precious stuff. Hand it over with care. The price, my dear?

"What? It was $10.50? Are you sure—I mean I want to pay what's fair. But when Joe and I were in Paris last, it was only $1.50."

Joe and Madame were last in Paris 10 years ago. Prices have gone up. Friendship is strained like a tight girdle. Hmmm.

Here in the magazine is another cupcake. She is in her nightgown. She has sprinkled herself with "Jolie Jive."

The ad is a little filmy. A little out of focus. Art. That is all there is to the ad. But the idea is that a cordon of cops is outside holding back the mob of maddened men.

She turned the old Flit gun on herself. And this is how it turned out. Men, men, men, men, men!

"Do men like perfume?" asks the magazine. Personally, I have nothing against perfume. But nothing much for it either.

Perfume on a lady does not do much to me. The lady may. But not the perfume.

Nonetheless, ladies go right on buying this expensive stuff. (And I carry it.) For they believe the ads that say it makes men mad, mad, mad.

A lady can think of no better thing in life than to make a covey of males bay the moon. All of them mad as hatters.

I know quite a bit about perfume. I carry a lot of it. And it makes me just plain mad.

4 Nebraskans Rated 100% By ACA

Four members of Nebraska's all-Republican congressional delegation have received 100% ratings from the conservative Americans for Constitutional Action.

Perfect marks went to Sen. Carl Curtis and Reps. Dave Martin, Ralph Beermann and Glenn Cunningham.

Sen. Roman Hruska earned an 86% rating.

The ACA rating is derived from an analysis and statistical evaluation of the voting records on issues which, in ACA's opinion, have a significant bearing on preserving the spirit and principles of the U.S. Constitution.

The population dilemma—the choice between continued indifference to population growth and acceptance of the consequences—will be discussed from a layman's standpoint at the University of Nebraska this week.

Sixty prominent leaders in business, industry, education, labor, agriculture and communications from nine Midwestern states will express their views at the Great Plains Assembly on "The Population Dilemma" Thursday through Sunday at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

Laymen will come from Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wyoming.

On the final day, the entire group will meet in plenary session to prepare and approve a report of the findings and recommendations, which will be printed and circulated.

The Great Plains Assembly is being sponsored jointly by the University of Nebraska and The American Assembly of New York, founded by Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1950 when he was president of Columbia University.

Two guest speakers will address the participants at dinner meetings to stimulate discussion on the following days.

The speakers are: Dr. James Crow of Madison, Wisconsin, acting dean of the School of Medicine at the University of Wisconsin, who will speak Thursday evening on "Population Genetics."

Dr. Arnold Schaefer, Bethesda, Maryland, executive director, Interdepartmental Committee on Nutrition for National Defense, National Institutes of Health, who will discuss "World Population Growth and Nutrition" Saturday evening.

Nicosia, Cyprus (AP)—Thousands of Greek Cypriot demonstrators jeered British troops in Nicosia Wednesday and lampooned President Lyndon B. Johnson as a Turkish partisan.

As tension in the Cyprus crisis mounted, Britain said it was fed up with the situation and Turkey officially demanded direct action from the United States, Britain and other NATO allies to halt bloodshed on the eastern Mediterranean island.

Fleet movements — Including the reported appearance of two Soviet destroyers in the Mediterranean — formed background for the demonstrations and intense diplomatic byplay.

Russians At Sea

Port authorities in Istanbul said two Russian destroyers crossed the Turkish Straits from the Black Sea to the Mediterranean early Wednesday.

day. Their destination and purpose was not known. Moscow has generally supported the Greek Cypriot side in the Cyprus dispute.

One hour after the Russian vessels negotiated the narrow Bosphorus, nine units of the U.S. Sixth Fleet, including the aircraft carrier Enterprise, sailed through the Dardanelles into the Mediterranean. The fleet had been in Istanbul on a friendship visit after recent NATO maneuvers.

A lone optimistic note was a report from diplomatic sources that the United States and Britain had agreed to contribute about $3 million to pay for a U.N. peace-keeping force on Cyprus. Such contributions would make it easier for Secretary-General U Thant to obtain troops for the force the Security Council authorized him to recruit one week ago.

British Truck Stoned

In Nicosia, a British army truck was stoned and the car of British High Commissioner (Ambassador) Sir Arthur Clark was halted by students who pounded it with their fists. A rock just missed the car as it moved away.

Some students in the parade through Nicosia's narrow streets carried a cartoon of President Johnson wearing a fez. The cartoon was labeled "Kemal Johnson."

The Greek Cypriots accuse both Britain and the United States of siding with Turkey in the Cyprus crisis touched off by efforts of Cyprus President Archbishop Makarios, the Greek Cypriot leader, to amend the island's constitution.

Position Intolerable

In London, British Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys said the position of British peace-keeping forces on Cyprus had become intolerable and that this situation must end. He said the British attitude has been conveyed to Thant in New York.

Britain has sent about 7,000 troops to this former colony to try to keep the peace since the fighting broke out in December. British troops have come under fire from both sides and have fired back. Western officials said leftists are behind the campaign to get the British out of Cyprus.

Representatives of organizations including more than three fifths of the Greek Cypriot working population cabled a protest to the British high commissioner in Nicosia Wednesday. The telegram said the British would be asked to withdraw from Cyprus unless they stop showing partiality to the Turkish Cypriots.

In Ankara, Turkish Foreign Minister Feridun Cemal Erkokul handed notes to the U.S. and British envoys. A foreign ministry source said the notes asked for "more decisive and energetic actions" on the part of Turkey's allies to prevent a "massacre" of the Turkish Cypriot minority on Cyprus.

Turks Free Four

Four Greek Cypriot policemen held captive by Turkish Cypriots since Feb. 3 were freed Wednesday night and handed over to Greek authorities in Nicosia.

While fighting ebbed on the unhappy island, the British found themselves once more embroiled with the Greek Cypriots, this time at the north coast town of Kazaphani. Continuous fighting ended there Sunday.

A British military spokesman said the Greek Cypriot police sent an ultimatum for British troops to get out of the district, then withdrew it. About 30 British paratroopers took up defense positions just in case.

In eastern Cyprus, Turks in the village of Ayios Andronikos agreed to hand over their guns and remove roadblocks, the British reported. Greek Cypriot police and irregulars had surrounded the Turkish quarter Tuesday.

In southwest Cyprus, about 800 Turks remained penned up in a schoolhouse at the village of Matla after a battle Tuesday in which five Turkish Cypriots were killed and three wounded.

Meanwhile, Archbishop Makarios, flew to Athens for the funeral of King Paul and to confer on his country's crisis with the Greek government.

Funds For Entire ETV Network To Be Asked

The Nebraska Educational Television Commission voted unanimously Wednesday to ask the 1965 Legislature to appropriate enough money to complete the entire statewide ETV network during the 1965-67 biennium.

It will take approximately $2 million—$5 per student for the estimated 400,000 young Nebraskans enrolled in elementary and secondary schools and colleges throughout the state.

The vote to seek funds following completion of the network followed a recommendation of the commission's finance subcommittee headed by J. Arthur Danielson of Lincoln.

Danielson suggested the commission also should seek to determine the extent of ETV support throughout the state from its potential users, adding that the greater the expressions of support, the "more likely" it will be that funds will be made available.

To Invite Candidates

Also approved was a subcommittee recommendation that legislative candidates be invited to attend commission meetings over the state for the balance of the year to observe the commission's work and progress.

The commission also adopted a recommendation from its policies subcommittee, headed by Dr. Theron Maxson of Hastings, that a manual be prepared by the commission which will be made available to all sources clearly defining the commission's policies on all ETV matters.

General Manager Jack McBride was asked to have prepared for the April 3 meeting at Alliance a report which will enable the commission to establish priorities for network completion.

He also was requested to present at the April meeting the commission's 1965-67 budget.

In other action, the commission approved a proposal that invitations be extended to Nebraska's 67 common carriers to bid for a contract to provide interconnection facilities for the ETV network.

Bids are to be received by the commission by 9 a.m. April 15.

Policies

The commission accepted for consideration a proposal from the Nebraska Council for Educational Television suggesting policies to be adopted to establish the working relationship between the commission and the council, which is the programming arm for ETV.

On another matter, the commission agreed to purchase when they are needed and when funds are available—the three station translator systems currently owned and operated by the Nebraska Council for Educational Television.

Cost will be in the neighborhood of $18,000 to $20,000 and it will be used to fill in pockets when the network is completed to assure coverage to all segments of the state.

Gothenburg Woman's Term Commuted

The State Board of Pardons Wednesday commuted the sentence of Janice Wear of Gothenburg and discharged her from the Women's Reformatory.

She was sentenced March 29, 1963, to one to two years in the reformatory by the Lincoln District Court on conviction of passing a no account check. She is 26.

The Pardon Board commuted and discharged one State Penitentiary inmate and paroled five others.

Three more had their sentences commuted but are being held on detainers to answer charges elsewhere while action of another was deferred.

Commuted and discharged, with age, home, crime, county where convicted, term and date of sentencing:

Jerry W. Johansen, 19, North Platte; breaking and entering; Lincoln; one to three years; Feb. 7, 1963.

Jim Gullman, 20, South Sioux City; passing no fund check; Hart; one to three years; Dec. 12, 1962.

Wilford Pipe, 25, Rosebud, S.D.; auto theft; Cherry; 1-10 years; Nov. 4, 1963.

Robert Adams, 30; Houston, Tex.; breaking and entering and jail break; three years; Dec. 20, 1961.

Dakota; 5-10 years; March 4, 1960.

Frank L. Radtke, 32; Norfolk; grand larceny; Lincoln; three years; Aug. 30, 1962.

William F. Hustler, 27; Omaha; burglary; Douglas; four years; Jan. 15, 1962.

Commuted to a detainer:

Edward M. Wallace, 21; transient; felony; Box Butler; one year; June 30, 1963; county; felony; indictment; Cherry; two years; March 27, 1963.

Edward Fowler, 41; Colfax; burglary; Lincoln; seven years; Nov. 2, 1960.

Donald P. Easter, 36; Portland, Ore.; obtaining money by false pretense; Scotts Bluff; three to five years; Oct. 27, 1961.

Detained:

William Stafford, 30; Christiansburg, Va.; escape county jail, Lancaster; one year; Dec. 20, 1961.

Osceola Attorney William Norton Heads Power Board

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Osceola attorney William Norton was elected chairman of the Nebraska Power Review Board Wednesday.

Norton succeeds Clair Callan of Odell, who resigned to seek the First District Democratic congressional nomination.

Ed Crowley of Kearney was named vice chairman, succeeding Norton.

The board set for hearing next Wednesday motions to delay testimony on the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooper-ative's application to construct a new 230-kilovolt transmission line from Ft. Randall to Grand Island.

Scheduled March 25

The hearing on the application had originally been scheduled for March 25.

Motions for a continuance have been filed by Loup River Public Power District, Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District and Consumers Public Power District.

Delayed a week, until March 25, was CPD's application to construct one mile of transmission line to serve the City of Wilber.

Norris Public Power District requested the delay in order that it might present an application to construct some 230 miles of transmission lines in five counties, including a line through Wilber.

The board decided to take Consumers' testimony March 25, then continue the hearing in order to hear Norris. A decision would then be reached jointly on the applications.

Completion Date 1968

Norris' program includes $1,356,000 in construction in Lancaster, Gage, Saline, Jefferson and Thayer Counties.

Completion date is 1968.

In other action, attorneys for rural districts told the board that Consumers is proposing an "unacceptable" proviso in its service area agreements with rurals.

The proviso provides that service area agreements between Consumers and rurals not apply to new loads of such magnitude and in such a location that the most economical method of serving them would be from an existing 34.5-kilovolt line owned by the other party.

Consumers is "asking for a corridor along their 34.5-KV lines through rural district service areas," Kenneth Olds of Wayne said.

"If a good new load develops, they say that they will take it by agreement or go to the Power Board and fight for it," Olds said. "They would let the rurals take the small loads."

Such a proviso "destroys the value of service area agreements, and will lead to additional controversies," he argued.

Lincoln attorney Robert Crosby agreed, saying that it would "defer conflicts to the future."

But CPD attorney Richard Wilson of Lincoln said the purpose of the agreement is "in strict accord with the law. It just repeats the law."

Providing for the most economical service and avoiding duplication of expensive high-voltage lines is "in the public interest," he said.

Six rural districts have already agreed to provisos of a similar nature, Wilson said.

Volk Selected Head Of State Swine Council

James Volk, purebred swine breeder from Battle Creek, has been named president of the Nebraska Swine Council.

The council's board of directors elected Bill McGuire of Wisner, vice president, and Leon Rathke of Beemer, secretary-treasurer.

Prior to election of officers, four new directors were named, including Volk; Guy McReynolds of Ashland; Paul Pedersen of Cozad, and Paul Thitelen of Creston.

Four directors were re-elected. They are: McGuire; Greg Steffen, Crofton; Rathke; and Leon Nelson of Norfolk. Glen Frink of Juniata, representing the South Central Nebraska Swine Producers Association, was named to fill the one-year unexpired term of Bob Roth of Norfolk, who is no longer engaged in hog production and is not eligible to be a director. The council has a total of 16 directors, eight of whom are elected or re-elected each year.

In other business, the council decided to appoint a 7-man committee to work directly with the Nebraska Centennial Commission in creating and adopting an official pork cut to be used during the Centennial observance period.

Flowerday Gets Transfer To NU

Stanton —The director of the Northeast Nebraska Experimental Farm at Concord, Dale Flowerday, is being transferred to the University of Nebraska as outstate agronomist.

The transfer is subject to the approval of the University of Nebraska Board of Regents.

The transfer was announced at the farm meeting at Stanton.

Denzel Clegg and Ulver Alexander of the University of Nebraska will be transferred to the Concord farm. No successor for Flowerday was announced.

'Reassurance Calls' Informally OK'd

Mayor Dean Petersen and police officials Wednesday informally approved of a proposed reassurance phone call program to guard against sudden illness or accident going unnoticed among persons who live alone.

Mrs. Bruce Hazen, chairman of Reassurance Service met with the mayor, Police Chief Joe Carroll, Public Safety Director Emmett Jung and Police Lt. Dale Adams.

Mrs. Hazen said hopes are the service can be started in the very near future with handicapped persons assisting the calling.

It would consist of calls each day at a stipulated hour from persons using the service. If a call does not come in, a check is made and if the reason for the call's not coming cannot be determined, then a relative, friend, physician or police would be notified.

Likes The Idea

Carroll said the department would "like the idea of systematized calling" and would "be glad to help when possible."

A key system could be worked out so police could enter the homes of those using the service in the event of a possible emergency, discussion indicated.

Mrs. Hazen said the program would be keyed to elderly or handicapped persons living alone.

Carroll said the police often receive calls to check persons who don't answer phone calls or who might be in trouble, but there is no organized system such as proposed to handle such calls.

N.H. LEADER TO BUY 1ST LOTTERY TICKET

Concord, N.H. (UPI) — New Hampshire goes into the gambling business Thursday and Gov. John W. King said he will buy the first ticket in the nation's only legal lottery.

Officials lost no time in putting the New Hampshire sweepstakes into operation following Tuesday's nearly 4 to 1 approval of the referendum in the primary election.

Voters approved the lottery by a vote of 114,987 to 31,327.

The state hopes that $10 million worth of the $3 tickets will be sold before Sept. 12 when lucky ticket holders could win as much as $100,000.

King, a Democrat who launched the lottery despite stiff political and social opposition, will purchase the first ticket at brief ceremonies at Rockingham Park horse race track.

At the track, the first of several hundred electronic sweepstakes ticket selling machines will go into operation.

Launching of the sweepstakes coincides with the opening day of the 1961 harness racing season in New Hampshire, so a big early turnout of purchasers is expected.

The state plans to give away 40% of its total sales with top prizes of $100,000 for every $1 million of tickets sold and hundreds of lesser prizes in each million dollar series.

County District Opinion Given

Reapportionment of county supervisor districts does not automatically vacate the offices held by the current county supervisors, according to a State Department of Justice opinion released Wednesday.

And all the incumbent supervisors serve out their full terms even though the reorganization places two or more of them in the same district," the opinion said.

However, should a supervisory file for reelection in the old district and the change puts him in another district his filing would be void and he could not recover his filing fee, the opinion added. He could, though, run for supervisor in the new district he lives in, it said.

The opinion, requested by John E. Dier of Holdrege, Phelps County attorney, was written by C. C. Sheldon and approved by Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer.

Author Of 'Calories Don't Count' Charged With Fraudulent Promotion

New York (AP) — Dr. Herman Tatter, author of "Calories Don't Count," a best-seller for 39 weeks, was indicted Wednesday on charges his book fraudulently promoted worthless pills for no diet weight control.

The federal indictment came six weeks after the makers and promoters of another purported reducing pill, "Regimen Tablets," were indicted on similar charges.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Martin R. Pollner said more than one million copies of "Calories Don't Count," which cost $3.95, and nearly $500,000 worth of CDC capsules have been sold. The government obtained an order in July 1962 condemning the drug as mislabeled.

Fraudulently

The indictments said the defendants also fraudulently promoted the CDC capsules as effective in treatment and prevention of heartburn, arteriosclerosis, diabetes, heart disease and cancer and to increase sexual drive.

The federal grand jury in Brooklyn, indicted, along with Tatter, Edward Bobley, president of Cove Vitamin & Pharmaceutical, Inc.; his brother, Harry, chairman of the board of Cove; Kenneth Beirn, a director of CDC Pharmaceutical, Inc.; and the two Glen Cove, N.Y., corporations, which made and distributed the capsules.

The indictment contained 45 counts charging mail fraud, three charging mislabeling in violation of federal food and drug laws and one charging conspiracy. Pollner said the book was considered part of the labeling of the product.

Worthless

Pollner said the CDC capsules were worthless for weight control, except in that they might cause nausea and consequent loss of appetite. The grand jury charged that although the book said six capsules contained the daily requirement of three ounces of safflower oil, 90 capsules would have to be taken to provide three ounces.

The safflower oil, Pollner said, purportedly would release other types of fats, resulting in weight loss.

A spokesman for Simon and Schuster, Inc., which published the book in September, 1961, said it is no longer being distributed by the firm. Another company issued a paperback edition of the book.

False Claims

Last September the Federal Trade Commission charged Tatter, Cove Vitamin and Simon and Schuster with making false weight-control claims in the book and its promotion material. The publisher was not named in Wednesday's indictment.

Tatter, 52, has offices in Manhattan and a home in New Rochelle, N.Y.

If convicted on all counts, each of the defendants could be sentenced to 239 years in prison and fined $85,000, prosecutors said.

SHE CHOSE JAIL ... FOR A WHILE

In protest against the "injustice" of her arrest for speeding, Mrs. Vincent McGonigal chose to serve a 10-day jail sentence rather than pay an alternate $10 fine. But after her first night in jail in Batavia, N.Y., she decided to pay the fine. Of her stay in jail, she said, "I didn't like it very much." The arrest resulted in this mark on her driving license. The boy is her son, Timothy, 4.

Car-Pedestrian Mishap Injures Lincoln Girl, 11

Ivonne Doeschot, 11, of 210 Sycamore Drive, was listed in good condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital after a car-pedestrian accident in front of 210 Sycamore late Wednesday afternoon.

She received facial lacerations and bruises.

Police identified the driver of the northbound car as Edward L. Camp, 25, of 2836 No. 47th.

Police said the girl ran into the street from the east and ran into the side of the car.

She was thrown onto the hood, then dropped back onto the street.

Evening Ceremony

The wedding of Miss Ardyce Beal of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beal of Beatrice, and Donald H. Dillard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Dillard of Athol, Idaho, took place Tuesday evening, March 10, at the Centenary Methodist Church in Beatrice. The ceremony was solemnized at 8 o'clock by Dr. Walter Jewett.

Hostesses

Entertaining in postnuptial courtesy on Wednesday evening were Miss Brenda Brown and Miss Susie Cole who were hostesses at a dinner and shower at the home of Miss Brown.

The party honored Mrs. Jim Jochim, who was Miss Linda Crocker before her recent marriage. Following the dinner, the 25 guests presented a miscellaneous shower to the honoree.

Mrs. Harold Mortensen of Raymond, was her sister's matron of honor, and attending her sister as bridesmaid was Mrs. Louis Lostro of Uvalde, Tex. Their alike frocks were fashioned of chiffon over taffeta in pastel shades of yellow and lavender.

Serving as best man was Henry Burkhart, and the ushers were Harold Mortensen of Raymond, and Curtis Smith.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of white brocade satin. The long-sleeved bodice was designed with a scalloped neckline, and below the elongated waist, the skirt was caught into fullness and continued into a chapel train. A crown of pearls held her illusion veil, and she carried a white Bible ornamented with a single orchid.

Mrs. H. A. Hanson was elected president of Chapter FB, PEO, at the group's meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walton Ferris.

Other new officers are Mrs. Ben Anderson, vice president; Mrs. E. A. Olson, recording secretary; Mrs. Richard Brummeler, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Duane M. Hunt, treasurer; Mrs. Lawrence Lund, chaplain; and Mrs. J. L. Moyer, guard.

The members of Chapter EE, PEO, named Mrs. W. C. Meierhenry president of the group at their meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. John Frey.

Also elected were Mrs. Donald E. Leonard, vice president; Mrs. Earl Ludlam, recording secretary; and Mrs. Frey, chaplain.

Re-elected to office were Mrs. L. E. Liebers, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Harvey W. Swindle, treasurer, and Mrs. Gladys Steven, guard.

Mrs. C. M. Pierson was hostess to the members of Chapter DX, PEO, on Tuesday evening when the following new officers were elected: president, Mrs. Richard C. Stednitz; vice president, Mrs. F. S. Bukey; recording secretary, Mrs. G. W. Peterson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. W. Hewitt; treasurer, Mrs. L. K. Bourke; chaplain, Mrs. Gene Dunham; and guard, Mrs. R. L. Hinrichs.

The new president of Chapter DL, PEO, which met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. R. F. Stalton, is Miss Virginia Ann Porr.

Also named to office were Mrs. Harry E. Weber, vice president; Mrs. J. H. Martin, recording secretary; Mrs. G. W. Holyoke, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. C. Breckenridge, treasurer; Mrs. Clifford Hardin, chaplain; and Mrs. James Ackerman, guard.

New officers of Chapter K, PEO, who were elected Monday evening at the home of Mrs. L. T. Laase, include: president, Mrs. Donald Keys; vice president, Mrs.

Evar Anderson; recording secretary, Mrs. Robert Bowman; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Marshall Hlskey; treasurer, Mrs. Larry Lynch; chaplain, Mrs. H. D. Brice; and guard, Mrs. V. G. Muselman.

At the Monday meeting of Chapter DN, PEO, the members elected Mrs. James Stuart president for the coming year. Also named to office were Mrs. Howard A. Chapin, III, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Leroy A. White, chaplain; and Miss Maryann Cornell, guard.

Re-elected were Miss Gwynne Hord, vice president; Mrs. George H. Allen, Jr., recording secretary; and Mrs. W. Bruce Shurtleff, treasurer.

Dear Abby
There's No Solution

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What does a mother do when a son she loves almost forgets she exists? His wife writes all the letters from both of them and they all go like this: "Hi" (no "Dear Mother" — nothing, just "hi"): We are fine. How are you? It is raining out. Just had coffee with a friend. (No name) 'bye now. I have to get supper.' Signature of both by wife.

How can young people forget all their mothers did for them? Where is their appreciation? It hurts to be treated this way. Is there a solution?

ACHING HEART

DEAR ACHING HEART: Although the letters are rather meaningless, an effort is being made to communicate with you. You can't get love, attention, respect or anything else from an offspring who doesn't wish to give it. There is no solution, but the less you dwell upon it the less your heart will ache.

DEAR ABBY: I have been considering giving my daughter dancing lessons. She likes ballet and toe-dancing. My sister recommends the dancing school she has sent her daughter to for 12 years. She says the teacher says her daughter is a marvel.

Every year this dancing school holds a recital, and all the students canvass the town selling tickets for it. If a dancing student wants to do a solo, she has to put up $25 extra, besides paying for lessons all year. I am wondering why a girl would have to pay $25 to dance alone on a stage if she is such a marvel. If you were in my place, would you send your daughter to such a school?

MRS. A. DEAR MRS. A: It sounds like a very costly way to keep a girl on her toes. Find a dancing school without gimmicks.

"FOURTEEN YEARS BEHIND": Tell your husband to quit clowning. He may have been married a total of 25 years to three different wives, but he had been married to YOU only 11 years. So tell him that when he puts in another 14 years with you, you'll be glad to celebrate your 25th wedding anniversary with him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO RENE: Your friend appears to have two hats. One to wear and the other to talk through. Hand him the first one!

Why Grow Old?

Hints On How To Keep Hair Beautiful

Josephine Lowman

Women are so interested in their hair and the way it is cared for and arranged, that I am writing about hair and wigs and hair pieces this week.

The fair sex wants to know many things about hair. For instance, letters come and come asking if cutting the hair will make it grow faster and longer. The hair you cut is dead and can have no effect at all on the living part of the hair which is beneath the skin.

Many letters ask if the hair can be permanently straightened. Just the other day a young woman wrote that her hair is too curly, that it is fuzzy or kinky whenever the weather is damp.

I find that this can be done, but it is tricky business and you should be sure that you are in the hands of an expert. Otherwise, your hair might break off. A chemical is used. This effect lasts until the hair grows out. In other words, when it grows out again it will be just like it was. However, it takes quite a while for the new hair to completely replace the old. This depends on the rate of growth.

If I had this kind of hair I think I would just cope with it. There are splendid light pomades on the market which calm down wild tresses.

Many women have the idea that cutting off the split ends of hair will add to its health. It's a good idea to cut the ends because the hair looks more attractive afterwards, but it will do nothing for the health of the hair. The health of the hair is affected only by what happens beneath the scalp, not on top of it. However, we can improve the condition of our locks by providing them with the essential foods for their health, and ours. We can also see that it is better nourished by increasing circulation in the scalp with massage, brush-ing, and certain prescribed lotions which increase surface circulation when applied to the scalp.

Many women are afraid to brush their hair after it has been shampooed and set. The opposite is true. If you have a good permanent and a good set you can brush it and brush it and it will fall into place. In fact you have to brush it well or the divisions made by the rollers will be apparent.

If your hair is falling out and getting thin you may want my new booklet "Is Your Hair Thinning?" This gives you lots of information and hope concerning this problem. Send 15 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Lincoln Star.

Suburban Activity Flourishing

BERLENE HEIGHTS

Tomorrow is Friday the 13th, and we thought perhaps an early warning could prevent mishaps. Before retiring tonight, take down all the mirrors, remove all ladders, and paint your ebony cat a lighter color.

Not everyone is superstitious, of course, but there are very few people who will deliberately tempt fate by refusing to throw a few grains of salt over the left shoulder, so don't stand behind anyone tomorrow. You might get sodium chloride in your eyes.

Irregardless of its history, Friday the 13th probably still will be a busy beginning of a busy weekend for suburbia, just as every day has been recently.

Mrs. Willard McPherson was a Wednesday afternoon hostess for her bridge eight-some which met at her home. Her guests for the day were Mrs. Lumir Hoffman, Mrs. Joan Hille, Mrs. William Beckman, Mrs. Charles Campbell, Mrs. Jack Cleavenger, Mrs. Robert Ozenbaugh, and Mrs. Lester Henderson.

Traveling to Omaha Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Emil J. Hynek and their children, Bobby and Diane, who were the guests of Mr. Hynek's cousin and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. O'Brien. The evening also included attending the cinema show, "How the West Was Won."

Celebrate Founding

Alumnae and collegiate members of Phi Mu sorority met for a Founders Day program Monday evening at the chapter house.

During the program, which marked the 112th anniversary of the founding of the first chapter of Phi Mu, Mrs. Robert F. Mallory was elected president of the alumnae. Other new officers are Miss Beverly George, vice president; Mrs. Leroy Seng, secretary; and Miss Shirley Rexroth, treasurer.

Mrs. Mallory will be alumnae delegate, and Miss George, alternate, to the sorority's convention next June at Mackinac Island, Mich.

The doorbell at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Swett is expected to ring this weekend, signaling the arrival of Mr. Swett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Swett of South Sioux City. The guests are due to arrive Friday evening and remain until Sunday.

SUNNYSIDE ACRES

"Is everything packed?" was probably a key phrase in the weekend activities of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Martin and their children, Gary, Pamela, and Jacqueline.

On Friday, the Martin family traveled to Wood River and the home of Mrs. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs.

Henry Hinrikus. On Saturday morning, they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Brandt in Grand Island, and by Saturday evening were visiting at the home of Mr. Martin's aunt, Mrs. Lisa Murphy and her children, Marilyn and John, in Wolbach. Mr. and Mrs. Martin returned home Saturday evening.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Schlegel and their son, Alan, motored to Milford Sunday afternoon to the home of Mr. Schlegel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Schlegel.

Mr. and Mrs. Schlegel returned home Sunday evening, but Alan remained for a week's visit with his grandparents, and will be coming home this weekend.

The weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Wilson was filled with Boy Scout activities. Mr. Wilson, who is Scoutmaster of Troop 2, spent Friday evening and Saturday with the boys on the farm of Charles Miller, near Eagle. He and the Troop returned home Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. T. Robe Dollar will be hostess for two tables of bridge at her home this evening. A late dessert will complete the evening of cards for the neighborhood ladies.

HOLLINGSWORTH HEIGHTS

It seems people are moving into suburban areas more and more each day, and right now we have another family to introduce.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Nielsen and their daughters, Gwen, Dana, and Diane, recently moved into their new home in Hollingsworth Heights. The Nielsen family had only a short trip across town from their former home, but still are having a good time meeting their new neighbors.

Club Activities Of Interest

The annual meeting of the Nebraska Society, Colonial Dames of the 17th Century, will be held on Thursday in Omaha. A 12:30 o'clock luncheon will be held at the Blackstone Hotel, and the program will include music by Mrs. Joseph R. Robinson.

Holding their annual state meeting in Omaha on Saturday will be the members of the Nebraska Society, Daughters of American Colonists.

Following a board meeting, a luncheon will be held at the Omaha Athletic Club. There will be a special program on American music, and during the meeting, new officers will be elected. Attending from the Lincoln chapter, Hanna Duston, will be Miss Jeanette Spealman, Mrs. F. F. Birnbaumer, Mrs. C. E. R. Edmond, Mrs. Joel McLafferty, Mrs. M. L. Flack, Mrs. Joseph Bolan and Mrs. Henry M. Cox.

Miss Jeanette Spealman of Lincoln, state president, will preside at the annual meeting of the Daughters of Colonial Wars in Nebraska, to be held Wednesday, March 18, at the Hotel Madison in Norfolk.

Delegates to the national meeting at Washington, D.C., April 16 to 19, will be elected at the 4 o'clock meeting, for which Mrs. J. D. Borghoff of Omaha, vice president, is in charge of reservations.

The Society will join the members of the Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America for a 6 o'clock dinner.

A program of music and pictures entitled, "God's Wonderful World", will be presented by Miss Geneva Mahon, assisted by Miss Eunice Willis, at the Friday afternoon meeting of the Society of Hall-In-The-Grove.

The program will follow a 12:30 o'clock luncheon at the YWCA.

The annual Fun Night program of Brownell PTA will be held from 6:30 o'clock to 9 o'clock, Friday, at the school.

Mrs. Keith Thompson was hostess at her home on Monday evening to the members of Gamma Delta Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha.

Following the business meeting, at which Miss Pam Schwarzenbach president, refreshments were served and the evening was spent informally.

If a declarer is in a part score and goes down because he misplays the hand, it is usually not entitled to mention in this column. But if a player is in six spades redoubled and misplays the hand so that the mistakes costs him 3,620 points, that is certainly worthy of more than passing mention in this space.

The deal occurred in a rubber bridge game. The players were all first-class—though the result achieved would not seem to bear this out.

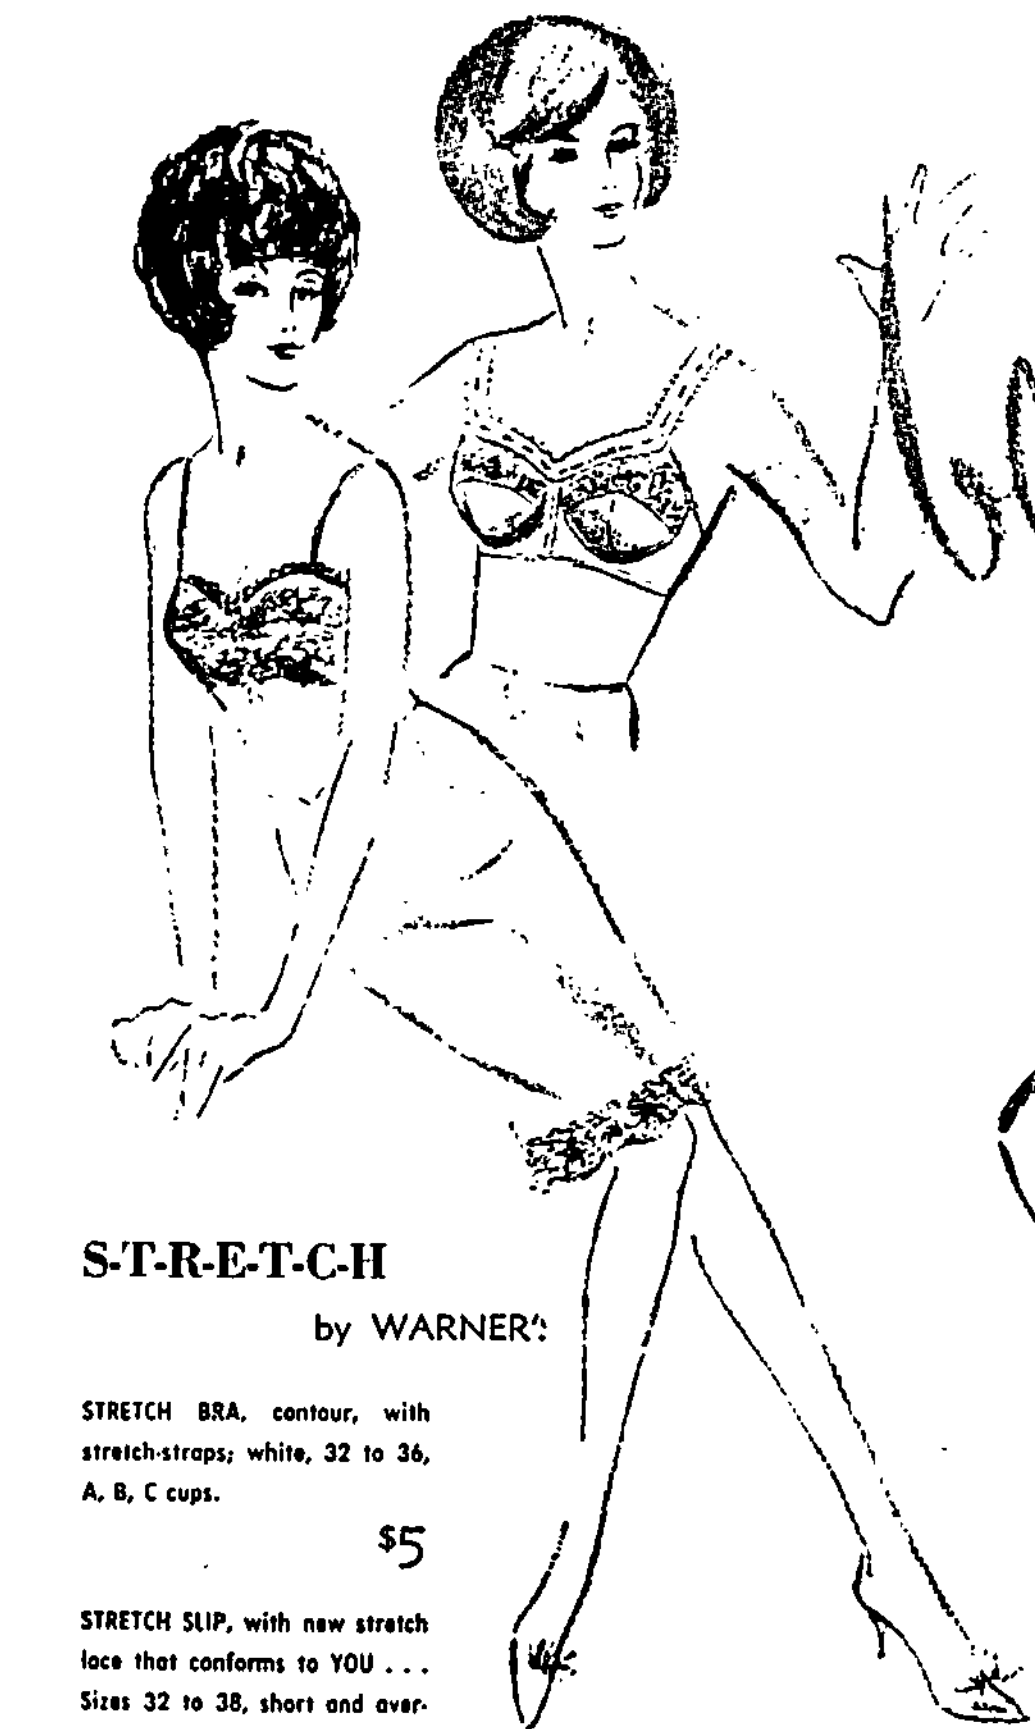

South tried to reach a grand slam by making use of Blackwood, but cooled off considerably upon learning that North had only one king as part of his three spade bid. But South's enthusiasm was not sufficiently dulled by the six diamond response to stop him from redoubling when East doubled six spades.

East's double was conventional—it called for an unusual lead from West, which in this case had to be a club. West dutifully led a club—he chose the eight for deceptive purposes—and South made the fatal error of going up with the ace instead of playing low from dummy.

East ruffed the ace and returned a heart. In an effort to hold the loss to down one—400 points—declarer finessed and lost to the king. West then cashed the king of clubs and played another club, and the outcome was that South went down three.

If declarer had taken the club finesse at trick one—as he should have—he would have made the contract and scored a plus of 2,020 points instead. It was a very expensive error.

South's argument that he was afraid the eight of clubs was a singleton does not

Rights Bill Backers Scoff At Cracks

SEN. RUSSELL TAUNTS THEM FOR 'RENEWING FAITH'

Washington (AP)—Senate backers of the civil rights bill scoffed Wednesday at reports of cracks in their bipartisan ranks and expressed confidence that they will muster full strength.

A chorus of such remarks prompted the chief spokesman for Southern foes of the measure, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., to taunt the supporters by asking why they feel they must "pledge their renewed faith every day." With tongue in cheek, Russell added that he does not want to think "ignoble thoughts" about them.

The exchange came as the civil rights debate plodded along through its third day with those Southerners seeking to delay the showdown getting a helping hand from other senators making speeches on extraneous subjects.

Push Pace
The leadership, running into trouble keeping a quorum, decided to push the pace a bit by holding the Senate in session a couple of hours later than on the past two days.

Democratic and Republican proponents of the bill began Wednesday's session by renewing their determination to push for passage with "bipartisan unity."

SEN. RICHARD RUSSELL

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said there are legitimate differences on some amendments, the need for round-the-clock sessions and for cloture but there will be full strength on crucial votes.

"I have rarely seen proponents of this legislation better organized and more determined than they are now," Javits said.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., floor manager for the bill agreed, saying, "When the roll is called we'll have the kind of unity that will spell victory."

Javits said Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois has some amendments but supports the general scope of the bill. Keating said, "I feel sure we'll have a solid front" behind a meaningful bill.

It was at this point that Russell taunted the supporters for what he called their "open covenants, openly arrived at" and the necessity for "exchanges of ideas, new pledges and new agreements." Russell said he hoped it didn't indicate any suspicions of "their comrades-in-arms."

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., took over the main speaking chore for the opponents, the third of the team captains of the Southern forces to speak against the measure. The others are Sens. Lister Hill, D-Ala., and John Stennis, D-Miss.

Squads Of 6
Each captain has a squad of six Southerners alerted to speak for a day and night, if necessary. Ellender, in 1948, held the floor for more than 12 hours in a speech against a civil rights bill. A year earlier, aided by recesses and interruptions, he held the floor over an 11-day period, speaking for more than 40 hours.

Ellender said the bill is the "most dangerous and far-reaching" of any legislation submitted during his 27 years in the Senate.

He quoted both President Johnson and the late President John F. Kennedy to support his arguments against the bill.

Personnel Report
Studied By Senators

The Legislative Council Budget Study Committee met Wednesday to give further consideration to a personnel study report submitted to it recently by the consulting firm of Booz-Allen-Hamilton.

The committee will announce its recommendations for a personnel program at the Legislative Council meeting in November.

ADMINISTRATION WEAKENING STAND ON 2% POWER RATE

Washington (AP)—The administration is easing its opposition to increasing the two per cent interest charge on government loans for constructing and expanding rural cooperative power systems. The rate has been in effect since the Rural Electrification Administration was created in the mid-30s. And the agency has approved loans totaling about $5 billion to 1,101 rural co-ops, public power districts and municipalities for extending power to rural areas.

The interest charge has been sharply criticized in recent years largely because at times it has been less than the cost of the money to the government.

Private power interests have complained bitterly, stating they are competitors of the REA systems in many areas and must pay much higher interest.

The Eisenhower administration sought unsuccessfully to get Congress to increase the REA loan rate. But Democrats in Congress led the fight against the increase. President Kennedy also expressed opposition. REA Administrator Norman M. Clapp has disclosed that his agency will study future financial needs of the rural power co-ops, including the interest charged.

While 98% of the nation's farms now have electricity—supplied either by REA or private power systems—demands for new capital are rising because of greater use of electricity on farms. This has created a need for larger generating and transmission facilities.

Clapp said it may become advisable to place REAs into two categories. One would include the well-established systems with bright prospects for future growth. The other would include new systems just getting started, or old ones in areas of slow growth.

The well-established ones, he said, perhaps should pay a higher rate on additional capital they might need. But the new ones, and those in areas of slow growth, should continue to get the two per cent rate, he said.

Clapp's views, cleared at high administration levels, were outlined at a meeting of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association at Dallas earlier this week.

Expansion Program Told At Women's Reformatory

BY WILLIAM B. KETTER
United Press International

Catching up with crowded conditions at the Nebraska Women's Reformatory is the aim of a $200,000 expansion program which began last year and will hopefully be completed by 1966.

The program was outlined Wednesday by Carl Botsford, State Institutions Department engineer. He said one project in the program is slated for completion July 1.

Population at the reformatory in York is 63 inmates. This figure, however, is expected to rise by 1966.

The population of the reformatory has been increasing since 1952 at a nearly constant rate. In 1952 (the lowest population since 1923) the average population was slightly over 25.

Largest building under construction at the prison now is a combination classroom-dormitory addition to the present west hall.

The institution has only one classroom now, with part-time use made of some living quarters to give the educational program a place in which to work.

Botsford said the two-story addition will house two class rooms on the ground floor and an eight-bed dormitory on the second floor. He added, however, that the room partitions in the dormitory area will be temporary to allow for removal to chapel or classroom space in the future.

Cost of the addition project, Botsford related, will run about $38,500. He said construction work is well advanced and should be completed by July 1.

The major project in the program — a 20-bed $140,000 dormitory — contains a high priority listing, Botsford said.

Other projects in the program include improvements to office space, kitchen and laundry facilities.

Morris said after the program is completed, the inmates' quarters in the administration building (east hall) will be used as a two-stage reception center where all incoming women will be housed during a classification period.

Check Of Colleges In Nebraska Reveals Few Students Are Actually 'Flunking Out'

Omaha, Mo. — Despite increasing academic pressures not many college students in Nebraska are actually "flunking out."

And colleges apparently are reluctant to talk about those who do.

After a blizzard of scholastic deficiency warnings showed college campuses at mid-semester, the Associated Press requested 17 four-year colleges in Nebraska to report how many freshmen had actually been forced to leave school at the end of the semester because of academic failure.

A month after the end of the semester, only six schools had replied, and none of these reported a significant number of flunkouts.

Here's the way the reports ran:

"One out of 188 . . . 22 out of 540 . . . 12 one per cent of the class . . . about 3% . . . about 5% . . . 10%."

The school reporting 22 failures noted that three of them were transfers from other institutions who had been admitted on a probationary status because of unsatisfactory work at their previous school.

Why did these students fail? Several reasons were advanced as probable causes, but the most frequently mentioned was "lack of motivation," that intangible something that drives a person to succeed.

Other probable causes given almost as much weight were "lack of background," "lack of knowledge of how to study," and "lack of effort" — all closely related. One noted that most had not been doing the kind of work in high school which would predict success in college.

Dr. Charles Harkness, director of university studies at the University of Omaha, added another factor — lack of reading ability.

He ranked this along with lack of knowledge of how to study slightly higher than lack of motivation in accounting for failures.

Dr. Harkness said that analysis of why people can't read is not his field, but he did describe the problems he has encountered personally in the last 20 years in finding homes with bookshelves built in.

"If books are put before people, they will read," he said. "If they read, they must think. If an individual can both read and think, he can graduate from college."

In this connection Dr. Harkness said most of the failures in the stratified group with which he deals, "generally occur in the heavy reading courses—the social sciences—and the remedial courses."

Another college official said he encounters the most numerous failures in the natural sciences, probably because of the present popularity of science attracts many students without ability along scientific lines.

Other than these, the colleges reported the range of failure as broad as the curriculum itself.

Is failure at the end of one semester the end of the educational trail for the hapless students? It doesn't have to be. All the schools replying to the AP inquiry listed procedures whereby a student can be given another chance. In some cases he is urged to start over at once. In others he is required to stay out for a semester or a year. One school provides for making up the deficiency in summer school or at another institution.

Altogether, this sampling, limited as it is, would indicate the overwhelming odds are in favor of the student. If he has enough drive to get into college in the first place, he probably will make the grade.

Truman, Mrs. Johnson Arrive In Greece Amid Protests

Athens, Greece (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson arrived Wednesday to represent the United States at the state funeral for King Paul as about 1,000 Greek students staged an anti-American demonstration in another part of the city.

Shortly before the huge plane carrying the official U.S. delegation from Washington arrived, at least one "Truman go home" sign was painted in glaring two-foot-high letters on a concrete wall bordering the road from the airport to the city. Police hurriedly obliterated it before Truman and President Johnson's wife drove by.

A few hours later, the Greek students bearing placards with such slogans as "America, hands off Cyprus" and the "Anglo-American trick will not succeed" gathered at the airport to welcome Cyprus President Archbishop Makarios.

National feelings over the strife-torn island of Cyprus was running high, with most of the animosity directed at the United States and Britain. The Greeks believe Britain and the U.S. are backing Turkey in the dispute which could flare into war between the two Balkan countries.

Since Archbishop Makarios is a head of state, 23-year-old King Constantine was at the airport to greet him. Makarios is also head of the Independent Cypriot Orthodox Church. Constantine, a member of the Greek Orthodox Church, bent and kissed the archbishop's ring of office. Greek observers stressed the action was strictly religious, without any political overtones.

Other arrivals for the funeral Thursday included Prince Philip, who became a father for the fourth time Tuesday when Queen Elizabeth gave birth to a boy. There were fears of possible anti-British demonstrations to mark Philip's arrival, but there were no incidents.

Mrs. Johnson and Truman were greeted at the airport by Prince Michael, a cousin of King Constantine and fourth in line to the throne; Constantine Choidas, chief of the king's private office; U.S. Ambassador and Mrs. Henry Labouisse, and senior protocol and foreign ministry officials. The members of the U.S. delegation, including

Rocky, Barry Make Tracks For California Vote Circuit

Sacramento, Calif. (UPI) — The windup of New Hampshire's presidential primary beckoned the Republican candidates to California Wednesday for a campaign that's certain to be as different as the climate of the two states.

Neither Nelson A. Rockefeller nor Barry Goldwater is wasting any time in hustling out to California to begin their bids for support in the June 2 primary.

The New York governor, after running second to Goldwater and third to Henry Cabot Lodge in New Hampshire, set right off for Sacramento to launch a four-day swing.

Goldwater, the only Westerner in the race, arrives in the state Friday for his first intensive tour of his big Arizona neighbor.

Both candidates, along with Harold Stassen, plan to appear before state convention delegates of the California Republican Assembly in Fresno Friday in hopes of gaining their endorsement.

CANADIAN WHISKY—A BLEND—EIGHTY PROOF—IMPORTED BY NATIONAL DISTILLERS PRODUCTS COMPANY

Now: For the first time!
The smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada

Next time you're making the drinks, instead of your usual whiskey, use this superior import. Costs but a few pennies more.

1. Smoother-tasting than any whiskey on the market. Compare Windsor Supreme Canadian with your usual whiskey. Make two highballs, Old-Fashioneds, Manhattans, Sours, you name it. Make one with "the usual," the other with Windsor. You'll be amazed how much smoother the drink made with Windsor is. There are no "rough edges" going down.
2. Finer tasting, too. Windsor Canadian has all the traditional mellow flavor and elegant fine taste that a great Canadian whisky should have. You'll find that you can enjoy it not only mixed, but as a sipping whisky or on the rocks—because its fine flavor is always a pleasure.
3. If you're used to paying an "imported price," expect to be surprised. For the price of Windsor, compared with other fine imported whiskies, is much, much less. In fact, Windsor is priced right in line with the leading (and so-called popular-priced) whiskies. Yet Windsor is a fine import... with all the smoothness and elegance you are entitled to expect. Look no further. Windsor is for you.
4. Windsor Canadian is proudly presented by National Distillers, sponsors of some of the best-known liquor brands in the world. This outstanding reputation of National Distillers is your assurance of quality.
5. Compare the price, compare the taste of Windsor Supreme Canadian with your "usual." Once you do, we think you'll seriously consider making Windsor your regular whisky. Remember: Windsor Canadian is the smoothest. With satisfying fine taste. An impressive and elegant import with an "everyday" whiskey price. By all means try this remarkable new Canadian.

Very remarkably priced

Washington (A)—Republicans renewed Wednesday their effort to point the flagging Bobby Baker investigation toward the White House and President Johnson.

With witnesses pleading the Fifth Amendment and Democrats indicating they are about ready to wind up the hearings, Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said Republican members of the investigating committee have submitted a list of a dozen or more witnesses the insurance man who sold he bought Johnson a $585 stereo set.

Scott referred to the Reynolds affidavit, which speaks of a "kickback of commission" on a $100,000 life insurance policy sold to Johnson, as a new development.

L. P. McLendon, special counsel to the Senate Rules committee conducting the inquiry, said an affidavit was turned over to the committee late Tuesday by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., who started the investigation last October.

McLendon told newsmen he had read the affidavit, dated last Monday, and had discussed it with Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C.

The committee counsel declined to comment on its contents or say whether Reynolds would be recalled as a witness. He said in response to questions, however, that he knows of no additional witnesses, including those on the Republican list, whose testimony would not be repetitious.

Jenkins On It
The GOP list was not made public, but it was reported to include the name of Walter Jenkins, longtime Johnson associate who is now a special White House aide.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said he had no comment on the Reynolds affidavit.

In the sworn statement, the insurance man said that on Feb. 20 of last year, while he was in Montego Bay, Jamaica, Baker telephoned him to advise him that Vice President Johnson desired to know the amount of the rebate, or kickback of commission, he would receive from his life insurance conversion of $100,000 term to $100,000 permanent retroactively to date of issuance of term.

Baker had the call charged to him, Reynolds said.

Later, on his return to this country, Reynolds said, Jenkins asked him "if I had received my commission and I stated I had."

Reynolds said "then stated that whatever I worked out with Mr. Baker should be given to Mr. Baker in cash and Mr. Baker would bring it in."

Baker was secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority at the time, a post he held when Johnson was Democratic majority leader.

Bought Time
In his testimony last Jan. 9, Reynolds said that after selling Johnson a $100,000 policy he bought $1,200 worth of advertising time on an Austin, Tex., television station controlled by the Johnson family.

Reynolds said he was led to believe this was expected of him even though he had no use for the time. Jenkins submitted a sworn statement saying he had no knowledge of any such arrangement, but was not called a witness.

Reynolds also testified that

National Rail Crisis Warms As 4 Unions Try To Create Rift

Washington (AP)—The National rail crisis appeared Wednesday to be warming up again as four unions moved to create a rift in the solid negotiating front of some 200 railroads.

The unions picked out what a spokesman described as two "extremely rich railroads" and offered to sit down with them in separate talks about wages and other issues unsettled by the national negotiations.

At the same time, the unions took large advertisements in several of the nation's biggest newspapers accusing the national negotiators of refusing every effort to settle the long dispute.

Waiting
One union spokesman said the national railroad negotiating team here, headed by J. E. Wolfe, "is waiting for us to create a national crisis."

The unions offered separate negotiations to the Southern Pacific and Louisville & Nashville railroads.

There was no immediate response either from the two railroads or from Wolfe, who is chief negotiator for nearly 200 of the nation's major roads involved in the five-year-old dispute.

The four unions are the AFL-CIO Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, the Independent Locomotive Engineers, the AFL-CIO Railroad Trainmen and the Independent Railway Conductors and Brakemen.

The unions' move was the first ripple in an uneasy truce since the expiration last month of an emergency law Congress passed to head off a strike last August.

The railroads are now free to impose their proposed changes in wage structure and working conditions, which the unions say will cause a strike, but so far they haven't done so.

The railroads are also free to start laying off thousands of firemen under a federal arbitration ruling, but haven't started doing that yet either. The unions' appeal of the arbitration ruling has been upheld by a federal court of appeals and is now pending before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Apparently, neither side is anxious to precipitate a new national emergency like that last year and thus force Congress to step in again.

Some key legislators had hinted last year that both sides might be sorry if Congress was forced to pass further legislation to avert another crisis.

A union spokesman said Wednesday that the separate approach to the Southern Pacific and the Louisville & Nashville railroads was designed to "establish a national precedent" and at the same time avoid setting off a new nationwide strike threat.

Further union efforts to settle unsolved issues on a railroad by railroad basis apparently hinge on the reaction of the Southern Pacific and the Louisville & Nashville to the individual approach.

The unions told the two railroads that they want to start the talks by discussing paid holidays, overtime pay, expenses away from home, night pay differentials "and another inequities in earnings."

Touching Letter Jackie Wrote To Be Auctioned

New York (AP)—A long and touching letter from Mrs. John F. Kennedy, explaining why she could not give $20,000 to a stranger, will be auctioned off here.

"I know it is hard to read about people who are rich when you are not, and I do not want you to think us spoiled and heartless," she wrote.

It was written from Palm Beach, Jan. 10, 1955, and addressed to Ronald C. Munro of Birmingham, England, her husband was a senator then.

The letter is one of 250 manuscript items to be sold at the March 19 auction of Charles Hamilton autographs. Mrs. Kennedy wrote:

"I received your letter and it has made me most unhappy these past few days. How wonderful it would be if this were a world where 7,000 pounds or $20,000 were merely to me the amount spent on an evening party, as you put it. If that were true, I would give what I could to enable you and your family to start a new life . . .

"The word millionaire has a magic ring to it, but I think there are probably left in the world only a few maharajahs who could throw money around like that.

"I could not possibly give you that amount of money, were you my closest friend or relative. True, my husband is well off, but taxes in this country are enormous . . . and when he has paid for the household expenses and his business expenses, which are great indeed, he does give to charity, and that goes to the Kennedy Foundation for Underprivileged Children . . . and at the end, there is not just a great pile of money lying around, as you imagine . . .

'Adoration, Love'

"From your letter I think you have something that a great many rich people don't have, and would give their fortune to acquire, a wife and family who adore you and whom you love . . .

"I would have helped you if I could. I hate to put an end to your dream, but I think you were hoping for a miracle that just won't happen in the 20th Century . . . I am sure God will be kind to you."

Hamilton said letters from Mrs. Kennedy are extremely rare. He estimated this one should bring about $250.

How it came into the firm's possession was not disclosed.

Odds Favor James, George Not Nik

London (AP)—Britain's newest royal highness slept peacefully in his cradle lined with satin and lace Wednesday, while his mother's subjects worried about his weight—a little over 5½ pounds—and bet he would be named James or George.

Although the preference of Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip naturally is a factor, the baby's name is influenced by high reasons of state. It usually takes a month or so to decide on a suitable set of names.

Prince Charles, for example, was born in the gray depths of Britain's postwar austerity and his name harked back to the gay restoration days of King Charles II.

Patron Saint

Prince Andrew is named after the patron saint of Scotland, and one of the currently favored names for the new baby is James, a Scottish king who ascended the British throne in the 17th Century.

Other possibilities are David, the patron saint of Wales; Rupert, which would memorialize the Queen's German ancestors, and Robert, something new for British royalty.

A betting shop in Portsmouth has been doing a lively business in the royal baby stakes. G. G. Bookmakers Ltd., while taking bets on the prince's name, also is accepting four-name parlays on the names and sex of the other royal births this spring. Princess Alexandra and the queen have had boys; Princess Margaret and the Duchess of Kent are expecting children within the next two months.

Odds On Names

Odds on the names for the queen's son are: James or George 6-1, Philip or Edward 8-1, William 10-1, Michael 14-1, Albert 20-1, David or John 25-1, Paul or Robert 50-1.

Still posted at 50,000-1, with no takers, is Nikita, first name of the Soviet premier.

The baby's weight was officially announced at 5 pounds, 7 ounces, the lightest royal baby so far. But newspapers hastened to assure their readers that the queen's doctors were not worried. The heaviest baby was the queen's first, the Prince of Wales, who weighed 7 pounds 6 ounces at birth. One medical authority said that normally a mother's babies tend to come progressively lighter in weight.

Doing Well

Mother and child were reported doing well. A sign of the 37-year-old queen's condition was that her husband, Prince Philip, felt confident enough to leave her. He flew to Athens for the funeral of King Paul of Greece, a cousin.

USO Used Once A Week By 208 LAFB Personnel

A tabulation of questionnaires submitted by 2,339 Lincoln Air Base enlisted men regarding their use of and feelings toward the Lincoln USO indicated that 468 participate in USO activities once a week or more.

The study is being done by the Community Council at the request of the Lincoln Community Chest. The council will evaluate the need for and effectiveness of the USO service in Lincoln.

Seventy-seven per cent of those who visit the facility once or twice a month rated it "good" or "fair." About 50% said the USO "partially" assists in serving their spiritual, social, recreational, educational and welfare needs.

Paper Says U.S. Let Go Soviet Spy

New York (AP)—A U.S. diplomat said to have been a Soviet spy for 18 years was allowed to resign three years ago "for fear his prosecution would trigger a major State Department scandal," the New York Journal American said Wednesday.

The man was allowed to "disappear" in Europe, where he and his mistress "are now reportedly operating freely . . ." the newspaper said in a copyrighted story by Guy Richards.

The story said:

"The hope of keeping buried forever the story of the high-level American turncoat, and that of his American mistress who worked in the Warsaw embassy, is one of the prime motives behind the almost desperate attempts to the State Department and Central Intelligence Agency to keep Col. Goleniewski from testifying before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

"Other reasons behind those attempts are fear of his disclosure of 19 Americans working for the KGB (Soviet secret police) 12 in the State Department, four in the CIA and three in U.S. scientific laboratories."

Washington sources said on March 3 that Col. Michal Goleniewski, 41, a Pole who defected from the Soviet secret police in 1961, provided information that led to the arrest of several important Soviet bloc spies operating outside the United States.

But there has been no official comment or further elaboration.

The Journal American said the diplomat-turned-spy joined the State Department in 1938 and was recruited by Russian secret police in 1943. He was not identified.

The newspaper reported on March 3 that Goleniewski named four U.S. diplomats in Warsaw whom he said were blackmailed into spying for Russia after clandestine affairs with Polish girls. Sex was also used to trap a fifth diplomat, who resigned, the newspaper said.

Game Magazine Gets New Name, Wider Circulation

Gov. Frank Morrison announced Wednesday that the State Game Commission's monthly magazine has changed its name to "Outdoor Nebraskaland" and will go on sale this month in newsstands all over the United States.

He praised the magazine as "one of the finest" publications of this type in the country.

Morrison also said he was going to request the Centennial Commission to ask the railroads to put in service a dated steam engine advertising Nebraska's 1967 Centennial. He said the idea was presented to him by a friend.

Washington Monument To Have Face Lifted

Washington (UPI)—The Washington Monument will have its face lifted soon.

The 555-foot-high obelisk, a landmark familiar to millions of tourists, will be completely surrounded by scaffolding during the estimated six months it will take to complete repair work.

The monument will remain open to visitors throughout.

Congressmen Ask Selves For Raise

Betancourt Pardons 4 Accused Plotters

Tremor Shakes Ghana's Capital

Thursday, March 12, 1964 The Lincoln Star 33

Washington (AP)—House members asked themselves for a $10,000-a-year pay raise Wednesday and got conflicting answers and some embarrassing reminders about past pledges of economy in government.

A final vote on a bill to raise salaries of 1.7 million federal employees—including senators and representatives—was put off until Thursday after a spirited debate, most of it dealing with the proposed congressional increase.

The vice president, Supreme Court justices, Cabinet officials and their immediate aides also would get $10,000-a-year raises under the bill. It makes the biggest increases at the top end of the pay scale in an attempt to make federal managerial jobs more attractive.

ment workers, however, with the average clerk and mailman getting about $450 a year more.

Majority leader Carl Albert, D-Okla., put the House leadership firmly behind the bill, but conceded it is a delicate matter to ask the members "to pass on the worth of ourselves." They would get $32,500 a year under the bill.

The responsibility for raising their own pay is given to them by the Constitution, Albert pointed out, and they should face up to it.

By refusing to raise their own pay, Albert added, they would hold down all other level salaries which are bound by tradition in a fixed relationship to congressional pay.

Republicans took the lead in opposing the bill, with heavy emphasis on the recent vote cutting taxes, which was accompanied by solemn vows

Straight Face

"It would be difficult for any member who votes for the bill to keep a straight face when he talks about economy," said Rep. John F. Baldwin Jr., R-Calif.

Rep. Katharine St. George, R-N.Y., said she thinks the $22,500 a year she is getting now is payment enough for members of Congress. And Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., said congressmen shouldn't seek office to make money.

Much of the debate dealt with the possibility of passing the bill without a record, roll call vote, as many of its sponsors would prefer.

Washington (AP)—Reps. David Martin and Ralph Beermann of Nebraska voted with the minority Wednesday when the House decided by a 251-147 vote to consider a bill to raise the pay of Senators, Representatives, U.S. judges and government officials and employees.

Rep. Cunningham of Nebraska voted to consider the bill.

Reappointment For Robertson Is Urged

Washington (AP)—Sen. Roman Hruska and Carl Curtis recommended that James L. Robertson of Broken Bow, Neb., be reappointed to the Federal Reserve System board of governors. Robertson has been on the board since 1956.

Hruska and Curtis told the Senate Banking and Currency Committee that Robertson "is an outstanding Nebraskan. He has an excellent record in public service and has served with distinction as a member of the Federal Reserve Board."

Caracas, Venezuela (AP)—In one of his last acts as president of Venezuela, Romulo Betancourt Wednesday pardoned 14 army officers accused of plotting to overthrow him four years ago.

Prison officials said the four would be released from San Carlos Military Prison where they had been held since their arrest in January 1960.

Accra, Ghana (AP)—A six-second earth tremor shook Accra at noon Wednesday, causing minor injuries among school children and cracking some walls in the old part of the city.

There was no major damage and nothing to remind people of the quake of June 22, 1939, that made hundreds homeless.

Cheesecake Always A Favorite

When your heart and fancy turn to spring and the calendar calls for romantic desserts, serve this captivating Royal Cherry Cheesecake. Baked in two layers, it features traditional cream cheese with the addition of tangy sour cream, both as an ingredient in the cheesecake and a smooth rich topping.

ROYAL CHERRY CHEESECAKE

Crumbs Mixture:
 1/2 cup graham cracker crumbs (about 7 crackers crushed)
 1 1/2 tablespoons soft butter
 1 tablespoon sugar

Cheesecake:
 1 (8 oz.) package cream cheese

1 1/2 cup sour cream
 2 eggs
 1/2 cup sugar
 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
 2 tablespoons lemon juice

Topping:
 1/2 cup sour cream
 2 teaspoons sugar
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 Cherry Glaze:
 1 (1 lb.) can light sweet cherries
 1 tablespoon cornstarch
 Red food coloring

Have all ingredients at room temperature. Combine crumbs, butter and sugar. Sprinkle evenly over bottom of 7-inch spring-form pan. Blend cheesecake ingredients until smooth and pour into pan over crumbs. Bake 20 minutes at 375 degrees. Combine topping ingredients and spread evenly over hot cheesecake. Bake an additional 5 minutes at 450 degrees. Chill.

A few hours before serving, drain cherries. Combine 1/2 cup cherry syrup with cornstarch and a few drops of red food coloring. Cook, stirring until thickened. Cool to room temperature. Remove cheesecake from pan. Arrange cherries on cheesecake and spoon glaze over cherries. Chill. Cut in wedges to serve.

For two-layer cheesecake, as pictured, double the recipe and bake in 8 and 9-inch pans.

Here Is A Fail-Proof Souffle

Lenten luncheon has new sparkle whenever this hearty asparagus souffle is served. Easy to make and guaranteed not to fail, asparagus souffle is in perfect company when served with a crisp tossed green salad, warm golden twist brown and serve rolls, and a cup of steaming coffee.

ASPARAGUS SOUFFLE
 1 (10-ounce) package frozen asparagus spears

1 cup finely crushed herb-seasoned stuffing
 1 (10 1/2-ounce) can condensed cream of asparagus soup
 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 4 eggs, separated
 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar

Chop asparagus spears into small pieces and let them thaw. Combine stuffing, crumbs, soup, lemon juice, and asparagus pieces. Beat egg yolks and stir into asparagus mixture. Beat egg whites until frothy. Add cream of tartar and continue beating until stiff, but not dry. Fold into asparagus mixture. Pour into buttered 1 1/2-quart casserole. Bake in a slow oven (325°F.) for 1 1/4 hours or until a knife inserted in center comes out clean. Makes six servings.

Good Food For A Lenten Luncheon

The chief Lenten food from very early days was fish. Records from the reign of King Edward III of England show that the typical Lenten seafood order for the royal household was: 45,000 red herrings, 10,000 white herrings, two barrels of surmullet, 1,300 stockfish, 89 eels and 320 mullets. Herring pies were considered a great delicacy and an ancient charter specified that each Lent the king was to receive one hundred herrings baked in two dozen pies or pastries. The English are, of course, big users of fresh, salted and smoked herring. In our country, these tasty little fish are most popular as canned sardines. Here we've used sardines to make a favorite American pie—little pizzas—ideal for Lenten luncheons.

SARDINE PIZZA-ETTES
 1 1/2 cups warm, not hot water (105°-115°F.)
 2 packages active dry yeast
 5 cups biscuit mix
 1 cup grated Mozzarella cheese
 Tomato filling
 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
 2 tablespoons olive oil.

Measure warm, not hot, water into a bowl. Sprinkle in yeast; stir until dissolved. Beat in biscuit mix until well blended. Turn out on board lightly dusted with biscuit mix; knead twenty times. Let rest 10 minutes. Roll dough to 1/4 inch thickness. Cut into rectangles 3"x1 1/2"; place on greased cookie sheet. Let rise 45 minutes. Make a depression in center of each rectangle; sprinkle in Mozzarella cheese. Spoon Tomato filling over cheese. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese and top with a sardine. Lightly brush with olive oil. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Makes about 3 dozen.

Tomato Filling: Mix together 1 6-Oz. can tomato paste with 1/4 cup water, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon oregano.

The Cookie Jar

... a quickie good cookie, Orange-Coconut Crumb Macaroons, made with fine bread crumbs. Almost before you know it, a batch of tasty cookies can be in the cookie jar.

Orange-Coconut Crumb Macaroons: 1 cup dry enriched bread crumbs, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup chopped nuts, 1 cup flaked coconut, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 4 eggs, beaten, 1 tablespoon orange extract. Combine bread crumbs, sugar, nuts, coconut and salt. Add orange extract to eggs. Add liquid all at once to crumb mixture and mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls on well greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove immediately from baking sheet to cooling rack. Makes about 3 1/2 dozen cookies.

Peanut Butter Spritz Cookies: Prepare dough as directed for Crisp Peanut Butter Cookies. Chill. Put through cookie press onto greased cookie sheet, making desired shapes. Bake. Makes about 8 dozen.

Peanut Butter Refrigerator Cookies: Prepare dough as directed for Crisp Peanut Butter Cookies. Chill until firm enough to handle. Shape into 2 rolls about 1 1/2 inches thick. Chill until firm enough to slice. Cut into 1/4-inch slices and place on greased cookie sheet. Press with floured fork, making crosswise pattern on each. Bake. Makes about 8 dozen.

Quickies

HAM SURPRISE Wrap a strip of boiled ham around a pickled floweret of cauliflower and serve skewered on a toothpick.

SPICED HAM Spread each slice of boiled ham with cream cheese. For greater zip, first mix the cheese with 1 tsp. mustard or 3 tsp. horseradish. Roll and cut into bite size pieces and spear with a toothpick.

ANCHOVY SPREAD Spread toast fingers with cream cheese. Top with fillets of anchovy.

Pecan Coffee Bread

PLANTATION RAISIN PECAN COFFEE BREAD
 1 cup dark seedless raisins
 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
 1 cup sugar
 4 teaspoons baking powder
 1 teaspoon salt
 3/4 cup corn meal
 2 eggs
 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 cup melted butter

Raisin Pecan Topping
 Chop raisins coarsely. Re-sift flour with sugar, baking powder and salt. Stir in corn meal and raisins. Add beaten eggs, milk and butter. Stir until blended. Turn into greased 9-inch square pan. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 20 minutes or until bread tests done and is lightly browned. Remove from oven. Spoon on Raisin Pecan Topping. Place on rack 3 or 4 inches under broiler unit. Broil until bubbly and lightly browned. Watch carefully to prevent burning. Cut into squares and serve warm. Makes 9 (3-inch) squares.

RAISIN PECAN TOPPING: Blend together 1/4 cup soft butter, 1/2 cup brown sugar (packed), 2 tablespoons whipping cream, 1/2 cup chopped dark seedless raisins and 1/2 cup chopped pecans.

Rep. Beermann Will File For Third Term

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Rep. Ralph F. Beermann will file today for the Republican nomination for a third consecutive term in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Beermann will pay his filing fee at Dakota City, and County Clerk Victor Hansen will forward it to Lincoln. Filing deadline is Friday.

Beermann represents the 30-county First District, including Lancaster County.

The congressman said the current "serap" with the Johnson administration over import legislation makes the rigors of another election campaign worthwhile.

"Nebraskans must understand that the President is responsible for their plight," he said, "and I intend to see they get the facts."

Beermann was first elected in 1960 when he topped a field of four Republican contenders in the spring primary, then knocked out Democratic incumbent Rep. Larry Brock in the fall.

In 1962, after the Legislature had redistricted the state, Beermann bested four-term Republican Rep. Phil Weaver in the primary. He defeated Democratic nominee Clair Callan in the fall.

Beermann is a member of the House Committee on Agriculture.

The congressman's record for the first session of the 88th Congress has been rated 100% conservative by the Americans for Constitutional Action, ACA announced Wednesday.

Beermann was judged on the basis of 12 House issues ranging from increases in the debt limit to the area redevelopment act, all of which he opposed.

In singling out Beermann for its commendation, ACA Board Chairman Ben Moreell said:

"Congressman Beermann, according to ACA's evaluation of his record, has voted to uphold the Constitution, has opposed the appeasement of the Communists and has opposed the trend toward socialism at home."

Beermann, 51, is a cattle feeder and farmer, and has been engaged with five brothers in alfalfa dehydrating at Dakota City.

White House Discounts Talk Of LBJ-RFK Feud

... PLAYS DOWN PRO-KENNEDY DRIVE

Washington (AP)—The White House, after discounting reports of a feud between President Johnson and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, took pains Wednesday to play down the apparent value of any pro-Kennedy drive in the Wisconsin primary.

Feud talk coincided with an organized effort to have New Hampshire Democrats write in Kennedy's name for vice president in Tuesday's primary. The attorney general, who formally discouraged the move, made a strong showing although he didn't poll as many write-in votes as Johnson.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, was asked about the reported Johnson-Kennedy rift, and he said, "All I know about it is what I read in the newspapers."

"From Time To Time" Salinger disputed one published report, in the New York Herald Tribune, that Johnson and Kennedy no longer are speaking, because of personal and political friction. "I think the President sees the attorney general on various matters from time to time," Salinger said.

Shortly after Salinger met with newsmen, Johnson had an unannounced conference with Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds of Wisconsin. A committee to boost Kennedy for vice president filed incorporation papers in Wisconsin Tuesday.

When the Johnson-Reynolds session was over, White House officials let newsmen know about it, and suggested they interview the governor.

Reynolds said any write-in drive in Wisconsin's April 7 primary would be "a little asinine," since presidential nominees traditionally select their own running mates.

New Element

Reports of coolness between Johnson and Kennedy have been current for the past three years. However, a new element was thrown into the cloudy situation by the efforts made in New Hampshire in behalf of the attorney general.

Johnson, at his news conference Saturday, indicated he wants a free hand in recommending the choice of a running mate. He could hardly have been pleased about the Kennedy movement, whether or not the attorney general had a personal hand in it.

But aides who are personally close to Johnson joined such old John F. Kennedy hands as Salinger in scoffing at reports of a feud that could rupture Democratic harmony.

However, another member of the Johnson staff, who long served John F. Kennedy, said Johnson and Robert Kennedy have never had a warm relationship, and that the new President was reluctant to send the attorney general on his recent peace-making mission to Indonesia and Malaysia. This source speculated that Johnson did not want to give Kennedy a build-up as a potential vice presidential candidate.

Not Out

Robert Kennedy, while issuing a statement seeking to discourage the New Hampshire write-in drive, did not eliminate himself as a potential candidate.

The attorney general has never clearly defined his future political intentions, beyond saying Tuesday, "I'm not going to remain as attorney general after November."

An aide said later Kennedy has no November deadline for resigning.

The attorney general's brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has said, "Bob's whole life has been devoted to public service, as the President's (John F. Kennedy's) was. He wants to continue to be active in public life, serve the party, and carry out the ideals of the president in any way that would be helpful."

Asked whether this would involve appointive or elective office, Sen. Kennedy said, "Only time will tell."

One White House source said that Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary, turned down an opportunity to become ambassador to Togo after Robert Kennedy recommended against the move. Salinger said, "Mr. Hatcher has never been offered an ambassadorship."

Hatcher is considered a political pro, and was active in the 1960 political campaign. The press aide has lost none of his interest in politics since then, and most people have expected him to take part in this year's campaign. If the attorney general did urge him to remain in Washington, he may have had this in mind.

Brawny Man Does Dishes

... RUBY JUROR'S HUSBAND RUNS HOUSE

Dallas (AP) — Drexel F. McCollum is a 52-year-old machinist with the brawny arms of a blacksmith who has been dipping his big hands in dishwasher the past two weeks because he—

1. Lost his wife, Mildred, to the Jack Ruby murder trial.
2. Lost his job in a company layoff.
3. Found that although his five children are willing to take turns doing the household chores, it always seems to be Dad's turn.

Mrs. McCollum has been gone since Feb. 25 when she was selected as the third juror on the panel to try Ruby for the slaying of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

At that time, she was given a room in jury quarters at the Dallas County Records Building and told she would have to live there until the trial ended.

Chief Cook
During the first week of her absence, the McCollum household schedule was haphazard. Dad became chief cook and No. 1 overseer in the early morning before hurrying off to his job.

He would leave the McCollum children, ages 10 to 17, jockeying for positions around the mirrors in the two bathrooms before going to school. They returned home in the afternoon an hour or so before McCollum.

Five days after Mom went to the courthouse, an apparent seasonal layoff left McCollum unemployed, with plenty of time to lounge around in an apron.

"Of course, I wasn't at all happy to lose my job, but that actually came as a sort of blessing in disguise," he said. "Things needed doing around here."

The silver-haired McCollum had been operating a lathe for a company which manufactures seismicographic equipment. Mrs. McCollum, 40, is a sec-

tary for a building contractor. She gets $5 a day in court. McCollum said with a smile, "but even if we both were on the jury, that would be hard to live on."

Fortunately, the five McCollum youngsters are big enough to fend for themselves in their mother's absence. Marcia, the youngest, is 10. Then there are Darrell, 11; Neal, 13; Patricia, 16, and Ferris, 17.

Away at college is James, 20-year-old junior at Texas A&M University.

After classes the McCollum clan sets busily—well, sometimes busily—to doing the household chores: sweeping, dishwashing, bedmaking and general policing up around the place.

"Until they get home from school we have to just let the house go," McCollum said.

All Hands
All hands pitch in when it comes to rounding up clothes for the weekly trip to the coin laundry.

"My wife gave up on a home washing machine long ago," McCollum said. "We use eight to 10 coin machines at once."

At mealtime, it's first come, first served, because Pop usually can't get the five together at the appointed time.

At McCollum spoke, sandy-haired Marcia and dark-eyed Patricia looked over a newspaper where they had seen pictures of their mother and other jurors leaving the courthouse to eat.

"That's the only time we've seen her since she left—in the paper," Pat exclaimed.

Many visitors—network television men, reporters, photographers and foreign correspondents, among others—keep the McCollum house from being too lonely while Mom's away.

Two newsmen interviewing McCollum recently were about to leave when he thrust a sheet of paper to them.

"Sign here," he said with a smile. "I'm keeping a di-

Nazis Starved Handicapped Children

Limburg, Germany (UPI)—Accused mass-killer Dr. Hans Hefelmann Wednesday told his West German war crimes court that Nazi officials deliberately starved to death handicapped children under Adolf Hitler's program to "purify" the Aryan race.

Hefelmann, 58, charged with helping murder 73,000 persons in the so-called "mercy killing" campaign, also said Hitler wanted 500,000 physically and mentally handicapped Germans "liquidated."

He testified he knew of at least two officials in the program who starved to death children "deemed unworthy of life."

Hefelmann, an official in Hitler's chancellery, said one was Dr. Walter Schmidt, now serving a life sentence as a major war criminal. The other was a Berlin gauleiter named Mutschmann, known at the sanatorium he controlled as "King Mu" because of his brutal rule over the life and death of patients, Hefelmann said.

Hefelmann testified earlier that one of the reasons for the "mercy killing" drive was to rid wartime Germany of "useless eaters." Another reason he gave was that hospital space was needed for military and civilian victims of allied bombings.

Hefelmann, gaunt and gray-faced, almost whined when he assured the court his own role was "insignificant."

The allied Nuremberg war crimes trial testimony of SS Gen. Karl Brandt, Hitler's personal surgeon, and his immediate superior, chancellery deputy Victor Brack, proved how small a job he had, Hefelmann said. Neither man mentioned his name before the allies hanged them, he said.

"We must be grateful to Start Urged For Sunday Library Hours

The Lincoln Library Board Wednesday recommended the "Sunday service" program go into effect April 5 during the hours of 1:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Library Director Charles Dalrymple said Sunday service would be available only at the main library, 14th and N. Dalrymple said the program was first dropped during World War II, due to lack of personnel. It was reviewed in the spring of 1963 as a trial project and a definite need for continued service was seen according to the library director.

Chief Of Lincoln CAP To Attend Texas Jet Course

James Nitz, commander of the Lincoln Civil Air Patrol cadet squadron, has been chosen to represent Nebraska at a jet orientation course July 19-25 at Perrin Air Force Base, Tex.

The Lincoln Northeast High School senior was told of his selection Wednesday night during a CAP formation at which he was formally promoted to captain. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Nitz of 1440 So. Cotner Blvd.

Also during the formation, Ronald Lear was awarded his observer's wings. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lear of 1231 Nelson and a student at Northeast High.

2 EAST GERMANS FLEE TO W. BERLIN
Berlin (AP)—Two young East Germans escaped to West Berlin Wednesday, West police reported.

They said a 25-year-old salesman and a 20-year-old carpenter got through five rows of barbed wire obstacles on the northern city limits and the flight in darkness was not seen by East border guards.

Presley's Fight Scene For Real

Hollywood (AP)—Elvis Presley was kicked in the head during a movie fight scene Wednesday and six stitches were taken in a gash over an eye, aides reported.

Presley was winning a fight with an extra, as per the script, but when the extra went down his heel caught Presley in the head. He was treated at a hospital in nearby Thousand Oaks.

Fish On Sale

Lisbon, Portugal — Fish from South African waters went on sale this week in Lisbon shops. Due to shortages elsewhere, Portuguese fishing vessels turned experimentally to the far south last October and now have delivered the first frozen products.

Chief Judge Adolf Wirtz, apparently determined to slow down Hefelmann's trial in hopes bail-jumping Gerhard Bohne would be extradited to join Hefelmann in the dock, said there would be only half-day sessions for the next few weeks. Bohne is under arrest in Argentina.

K-STATE, CREIGHTON MAKE NCAA BIDS

NCAA Semis Spot At Stake

... IN WICHITA TOURNEY

Wichita, Kan. (AP)—Only two of the four teams entered in the Midwest Regional of the NCAA basketball tournament here this weekend have played each other this season. That was a Texas Western-Wichita game here Dec. 4 when the Miners won 75-71, handing Wichita its first loss of the then young season.

Other teams entered in the playoffs at the University Field House are Kansas State and Creighton of Omaha. The winner here gains a spot in the NCAA semifinals at Kansas City next week.

Kansas State, the Big Eight champion, opens against Texas Western and Wichita meets Creighton.

Losers will meet for third place in the first game Saturday night, with the winners playing for the regional title in the nightcap.

All four entries have impressive regular season records. Wichita, co-champion with Drake of the Missouri Valley Conference, is 22-5; Texas Western is 24-2; Kansas State is 20-5, and Creighton 22-5. Texas Western and Creighton have no conference affiliation.

Texas Western and Creighton won regional berths in Dallas Monday. The Miners defeated Texas A & M 60-62 and Creighton downed Oklahoma City 89-78.

The tournament has been a sell-out since the first day the university began accepting ticket orders Feb. 10.

The field house has permanent seats for 10,235 fans but this can be expanded with a few hundred temporary seats. Up to 10,700 fans have watched Wichita games there this season.

Top players include: Wichita: All-America Dave Stallworth, 6-foot-7 senior who has averaged almost 27 points per game this season.

Kansas State: Willie Murrell, 6-5 senior with a scoring average of 22 points per game.

Texas Western: Jim Barnes,

6-8, who is averaging better than 30 points per game.

Creighton: Paul Silas, 6-7, the nation's leading rebounder for the second straight year. He's averaged more than 22 rebounds per game and has an 18.5 scoring average.

Pairings for the four regional NCAA Basketball Tournaments Friday, including won-lost records:

East-Raleigh, N.C. Duke, 23-4, vs. Villanova, 23-3, Connecticut, 19-10, vs. Princeton, 18-7.

Midwest-Viagrapolis Chicago Loyola, 21-3, vs. Michigan, 20-4, Ohio University, 20-5, vs. Kentucky, 21-4.

Midwest-Wichita, Kan. Creighton, 22-5, vs. Wichita, 22-5; Texas Western, 24-2, vs. Kansas State, 20-5.

Far West-Corvallis, Ore. Utah State, 21-6, vs. San Francisco, 22-4; UCLA, 26-0, vs. Seattle, 21-3.

Results of first round games Monday and Tuesday:

Connecticut 53, Temple 48; Villanova 77, Providence 66; Princeton 66, VMI 50.

Texas Western 68, Texas A&M 62; Creighton 89, Oklahoma City 78.

Utah State 92, Arizona State 90; Seattle 61, Oregon State 57.

HENDERSON READY . . . Huskies' backers prepare for first trip to State Tourney in 23 years.

Spirit Not Dimmed By Measles

... VISITORS TO HENDERSON WILL FIND STORES CLOSED

By NANCY RAY
Outstate Nebraska Bureau
Henderson — If it's possible to hold your breath and still cheer, the citizens of this York County community are doing just that.

Henderson's prepsters are going to the State Tourney and it's the first time in 23 years that the loyal basketball fans have made the trip. In fact, it has been such a long time that the town "just doesn't know how to act," admitted one Main Street rooter.

And to add suspense and drama to the big day, three-day measles struck this week, already downing one of the team regulars—Erland Bergen — who went into quarantine last Tuesday in tears.

Erland will be back for the tourney — minus three days' practice — but what about the rest of the guys? Students have been showing up in pink dots in increasing numbers, and the grim reaper got too close when the team's tall man — Ronald Regier — acquired a polka-dotted brother a few days ago.

But not measles nor the Black Plague could quench the spirits of the students and townsfolk for the trip to the big time in Lincoln. Win or lose, the lean and hungry Henderson Huskies followers are going to drink in the glories of the tournament limelight.

The busiest man in town is grocer Willis Friesen — who has been "volunteered" to paint a victory message in every store window up and down the main stem. He also is stuck with painting a canvas banner across the business district — if the city officials can only remember where it was stored after the last big celebration.

Newspaper publisher Mel Goetz and his wife made the supreme effort and published their weekly a day early in full tournament regalia. Now they are free to attend the tourney.

Most businesses will close early for the Thursday evening opener when Henderson meets Arapahoe. And if the Huskies clear that first hurdle and just happen to meet their archrivals from Gibbon at high noon Friday "this town just won't be here," said grocer Friesen.

Predictions are for more than 800 travelers for that first fracas Thursday evening. And Editor Goetz thinks that is conservative, even though the town's population sign reads 720.

BASKETBALL PREPARATIONS . . . From Class D schools such as Beaver Crossing, pictured below, to Class A teams like Pius X, above, preparations for the State Basketball Tournament have occupied many hours this week. Pius students Peggy Liewer and Nancy Jo Martin (No. 1) work on sign in hallway while cager Dayle Churchill also pitches in on sign-painting tasks (No. 2) at Pius. Diers Seeks Demo Lt. Governor Nod

William H. Diers of Gresham, former state senator and Board of Control member, completed his filing Wednesday as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

Edward A. Dosek of Lincoln, and Mrs. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff already have filed for nomination to the state's second highest office. Lincoln attorney Phil Sorensen Wednesday announced his intention to file as a Democratic candidate for the office also.

Ralph H. Cole of Holdrege became the first Democrat to file for nomination to the State Railway Commission from the Fifth District.

She'll Oppose Terry
Two more women added their names to those filing for the Legislature — Mrs. Betty Karpf of Morrill, wife of a banker and mother of four children, entered the race in the 48th District against incumbent Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff who has filed for re-election, and former Sen. Kathleen Foote of Axtell.

Mrs. Foote, who served in the 1955 and 1957 sessions from the 31st District (Kearney and Adams Counties), is seeking election now in the new 37th District composed of Kearney, Franklin, Webster and Nuckolls Counties.

Incumbent Sen. Kenneth L. Bowen of Red Cloud has filed for a fourth term.
In a statement, Mrs. Foote said that "the drawing of new district lines makes it even more important for the voters to be offered a choice on the ballot."

Obligation
Because of her two terms experience in the Legislature, Mrs. Foote said she felt "an obligation to file when asked to by friends and advisers interested in seeing a contest for this office."

In other legislative filings, Lincoln attorney Hal W. Bauer officially became the sixth candidate for the 28th District post; A. Don Elroad of Grand Island filed for the 35th District; Louis Jeppesen of Homer for the 17th District; Robert G. Gehring of Omaha for the 10th District, and Charles H. Rogers became the 13th candidate for Omaha's 8th District.

Four Democrats filed as delegates to their party's national convention: Hannah M. Doyle and Claude L. Jelen, both of Omaha, for the Second District, and State Liquor Commissioner V. O. Taylor of St. Paul, and Ralph H. Cole of Holdrege, for the Third District.

Lincoln Mayor Dean H. Petersen filed as a delegate to the Republican national convention from the First District.

Republicans filing as alternate delegates were Deputy Secretary of State Paul Quinn, and Butler D. Shafer, both of Lincoln, for the First District, and Mike Gustafson of Aurora and Donald R. Glantz of Central City, for the Third District.

Chambers Co. Low On Beal's Slough Sewer

Chambers Construction Co. was apparent low bidder at $137,637 for construction of Beal's Slough sanitary trunk sewer from 14th to 27th, city officials said Wednesday.

Other bidders were Dobson Bros. Construction Co., $138,886.30; H. R. Bookstrom Construction Co., $140,028.70, and N. L. Cole Construction Co., $146,404.65.

Dobson Bros. was apparent low on sanitary sewer and water district construction in Taylor Park Addition, a residential subdivision near 66th and Taylor Park Drive.

The Dobson bid on water District 631 was $18,211 compared with Chambers, $21,219; Joe Dougherty Construction Co., $20,343; Cole, $18,945; Bookstrom, $21,500.

On Sewer District 768, the Dobson bid was $19,473 compared with Chambers, $22,576; Dougherty, $22,550; Cole, $20,800; Bookstrom, $23,530.
On a city project for a water feeder main in 33rd from Sheridan to Calvert, Dougherty was apparent low bidder at $17,407, but city officials said the bid form hadn't been signed and the matter would be referred to the law department for an opinion.

Second low bidder was Bookstrom at $17,493, compared with Dobson, $18,326; Chambers, $18,588, and Cole, $18,950.

Engineering recommendations for award of contracts will be made later.

Rocket Launched
Point Arguello, Calif. (AP) — An Atlas-Agena satellite rocket, a combination used for Atlas or Midas reconnaissance satellites, was launched Wednesday. The Air Force gave no further details.

Barry Likely To Carry Primary Ballot

Sen. Barry Goldwater's name was expected to be officially entered in the Nebraska's primary election Thursday as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

According to Dick Herman of Omaha, Goldwater's Nebraska campaign manager, Goldwater's son, Mike, will be his father's agent in filing.

Nonetheless, rumors that Goldwater is so small that there is a 10-acre field of lined up in state file would stride the earth.

STATE GOP LEADERS STILL BEHIND GOLDWATER

United Press International Nebraska Republican leaders were still lined up behind Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater Wednesday, despite a solid write-in victory for Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge in the New Hampshire primary Tuesday.

State GOP Chairman Robert Denney of Fairbury said the heavy write-in vote for Lodge surprised many politicians, but that it was only an indication of "the tremendous amount of work his supporters have done in New Hampshire."

"It is not a significant win since New Hampshire has an autonomy of its own," Denney said. "It does not reflect the over-all feeling."

Decided Not To Choose
Denney, who is retiring as state chairman, said the New Hampshire voters were aware of a Goldwater-Rockefeller "fight" and rather than choose between the two, voted for Lodge.

"It does show, however, that Lodge is going to be a strong potential candidate if he goes out after the nomination," Denney said.

Denney said Nebraska's "constitutionally conservative" delegation to the GOP national convention will continue to favor Goldwater. "He predicted the state's unpledged delegation will back the Arizona senator for at least the first couple of ballots."

At Hartington, Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney commented, "I guess New Hampshire voters aren't as conservative as I thought they were."

Burney also said he expects the Nebraska delegation to the GOP national convention to support Goldwater at the outset, but after that "it depends on Goldwater's strength."

Burney, who is a major candidate for the GOP gubernatorial nomination this year, came out in support of Goldwater last year.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Nebr., commented, "It looks like New Hampshire stayed with a fellow New Englander" following the primary results.

"But you must fight every inch of the way for all worthwhile things in life," Curtis continued. "One skirmish does not end the battle."

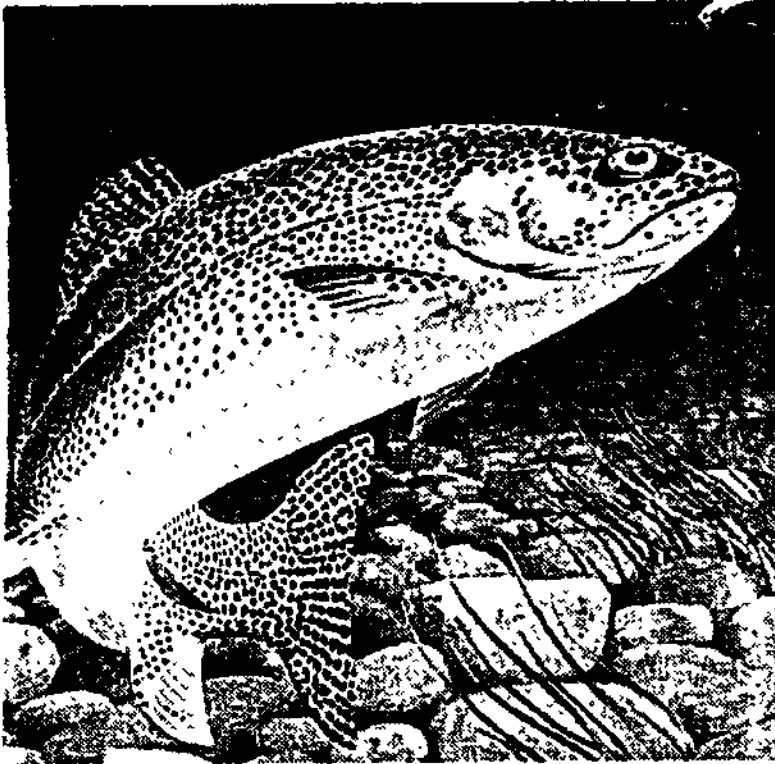

Goldwater's name was expected to be officially entered in the Nebraska's primary election Thursday as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

According to Dick Herman of Omaha, Goldwater's Nebraska campaign manager, Goldwater's son, Mike, will be his father's agent in filing.

Nonetheless, rumors that Goldwater is so small that there is a 10-acre field of lined up in state file would stride the earth.

Venezuela Has New President

Caracas, Venezuela (AP)—Raul Leon took office Wednesday as the first democratically elected president of Venezuela to succeed another so elected. Leon declared this oil-rich nation of 7.8 million "will never have another dictator."

About 2,000 military cadets, plus special troops guarded the congress building against any possible attempt by Castro-Communist terrorists to disrupt the inaugural proceedings, held in the senate.

U.S. Interior Secretary

LBj's Support Of Bill Asked By Morrison

Gov. Frank Morrison Wednesday wrote to President Lyndon Johnson urging that he use his influence to get a bill through Congress providing federal aid for construction of state soldiers' and sailors' homes.

The bill, now in the Senate subcommittee on veterans' affairs, would provide federal funds on a 50% matching basis over a five-year period.

Morrison wrote that in his opinion the bill follows Johnson's general line of economy because furnishing facilities for additional veterans at the state level relieves the Veterans Administration of this responsibility.

Also, he continued, the bill calls for the VA to subsidize veterans in state facilities for $3.50 a day, compared with the $12 a day it costs in the VA's own facilities.

State Institutions Director George Morris said passage of the bill would mean about $800,000 for Nebraska.

He noted that his department has proposed construction of a new 100-bed State Soldiers' and Sailors' Home at Grand Island to replace the existing structure.

Journal-Star Co., Dobson Brothers Sued For $50,000

A Colorado man filed a $50,000 damage suit in Lancaster District Court Wednesday against the Journal-Star Printing Co. and Dobson Brothers Const. Co.

Forrest S. Knox alleges he sustained multiple injuries when he stepped and fell into a hole where trees were being planted in the sidewalk in front of the Journal-Star Printing Co. on June 7, 1963.

The petition states Knox had parked in front of the building which he was going to enter to transact business.

Stewart L. Udall and other delegates from 50 nations looked on as Romulo Betancourt, 56, handed the tricolor presidential flag to his 59-year-old political ally and embraced him. Both seemed close to tears. But Betancourt, becoming a private citizen again after five turbulent years, smiled broadly.

Holiday

The day was a holiday by presidential decree as the first democratic changeover in Venezuelan history and the ceremony was broadcast by television.

Mindful of the widespread sabotage and raids by Red-banded that preceded the Dec. 1 election, troops and police cordoned off 48 blocks in downtown Caracas. Only official traffic was permitted to pass through to the senate.

A bald, portly labor lawyer, Leon had warned that he will be as tough as Betancourt, whom he helped to found the Democratic Action Party. In cracking down on the leftist extremists.

In his inaugural speech he promised a responsible government of national understanding with the broadest possible representation of political organizations and independents.

Of the Communist Party and the Castroite Movement of the Revolutionary Left, which Betancourt outlawed, Leon said, "These parties themselves have the decision on their future."

"Respect For Liberty" "They must leave the road of violence and incorporate themselves into democratic life with respect for liberty," he said. "The government will deal with plotters and terrorists. Venezuela will never have another dictator."

Relations with the United States will "remain normal and friendly, always in agreement with national interests," he said. He expressed support of the Alliance for Progress.

Leon confirmed that he will follow the Betancourt doctrine of refusing to recognize revolutionary regimes which have overthrown democratic Latin American governments.

He said he will press a charge of Cuban aggression that Betancourt filed in the Organization of American States. This charge is based on evidence that Fidel Castro's regime shipped arms and money to Venezuelan terrorists.

Leon asked the backing of all Venezuelans for agrarian reform, industrialization, creation of jobs, education and training of youths and "elimination of great differences in income" between various groups. He said he plans a major effort to improve working conditions and housing of both country and city dwellers.

Court Asked To Rule Peru Power Pact Valid

Consumers Public Power District Wednesday asked the Nebraska Supreme Court to affirm the validity of a contract between the State Normal Board and the City of Auburn for Auburn to provide electricity to Peru State College.

The contract to supply the power starting April 1 was signed last year before the Legislature passed LB220, the law establishing the Nebraska Power Review Board and prohibiting one power district from entering the service area of another.

Auburn submitted a lower bid than the City of Peru, which has been supplying the power.

The Lancaster District Court has ruled LB220 is constitutional and prevents Auburn from extending electric lines into the zoning area around Peru and thus makes the contract invalid.

Consumers, in a friend-of-the-court brief, contended LB220 should not be construed to apply to a contract signed before the law became effective.

It said: "This brief is intended to present authorities supporting the proposition that LB220 cannot be construed retroactively to affect contracts which existed at the time it became effective, that a prompt determination of the constitutionality of LB220 will be helpful in removing clouds which are casting shadows on millions of dollars of future investments; and that LB220 cannot be construed so as to permit organizations which have a general power to buy or sell electricity to operate in violation of LB220."

The main attraction of Nebraska's DeWitt Museum is the original band of beautiful Queen Nefertiti of ancient Egypt. The museum also houses a large collection of paintings, one of them from the 18th to 19th centuries.

Omaha (AP)—Mrs. Wanda Villwock, 31, of Elkhorn and Ernest Hamilton, 43, of Fremont, were injured Wednesday when their cars collided at 168th and Dodge Streets west of Omaha.

Mrs. Villwock said she was making a left turn from Dodge onto 168th at the time. She was reported in good condition in a hospital. Her four children were treated and released.

satisfactory condition in another hospital.

Stock Market Advances To New Peaks

New York (U) — The stock market advanced sharply on Wednesday with a strong rally.
The popular averages jumped to historic highs as the string of daily advances was extended to four.
Rising prices were accompanied by heavy trading. Volume in the New York exchange topped 1 billion shares for the first time since the heavy trading of the previous week.
Wall Street credited "outstanding business news" including the government's announcement of a 10 percent increase in business spending on new plant and equipment for the year.
The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks advanced 16.10 to 1012.40, its highest level since 1956.
The S&P 500 index rose 1.54 to 101.10.
The New York Stock Exchange volume topped 1 billion shares for the first time since the heavy trading of the previous week.

Feeble Rallies Falter In Grain Futures Market

Chicago (U) — The grain futures market reverted to rather general weakness again Wednesday after feeble rallies met renewed resistance on the Board of Trade.
New crop wheat and rye came under heavier pressure and declined around two cents a bushel on most contracts while other grains continued mostly small fractions either way of previous closes in somewhat more mixed dealings.

Fulbright: U.S. In Exercise In Futility

New York (UPI) — Sen. William Fulbright, D-Ark., suggested Wednesday night "it may be the United States that's out of step" with its allies concerning trade policies with Communist nations.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, asserted that current differences between the U.S., Britain and France on the trade issue was an "exercise in futility."

His remarks were taped for showing on the National Educational Television network's (NET) weekly program, "At Issue."

Buses, Trade

Commenting on the recent sale by the British of buses to Cuba and French President Charles de Gaulle's announced intention to trade with both Cuba and Communist China, Fulbright declared:

"Unilateral restriction, that is, just for the United States, is obviously ineffective. I think, to a great extent. We find ourselves going through an exercise in futility."

"We have large surpluses which we can't sell and our allies, some of our closest friends, Canada, for example, with regard to wheat, are proceeding to trade. So here's a case where nearly everybody's out of step but the United States."

Wondering whether it's not — it may be the United States that's out of step — Fulbright's committee Thursday begins hearings on U.S. trade policies with Communist countries. He said he was "inclined to doubt" that the U.S. ban on trade with the Fidel Castro regime will succeed.

He said that as long as U.S. allies don't see eye to eye on the trade question with this country, U.S. policy will be "rather ineffectual."

Canadian Stand

Canadian External Affairs Minister Paul Martin, in a taped statement, defended Canada's trade with Cuba and other Communist nations.

Martin said Canada has "gone on the principle that if in Russia or China they're able to improve their standard of living, they're less likely to be doctrinal and aggressive and militant Communists."

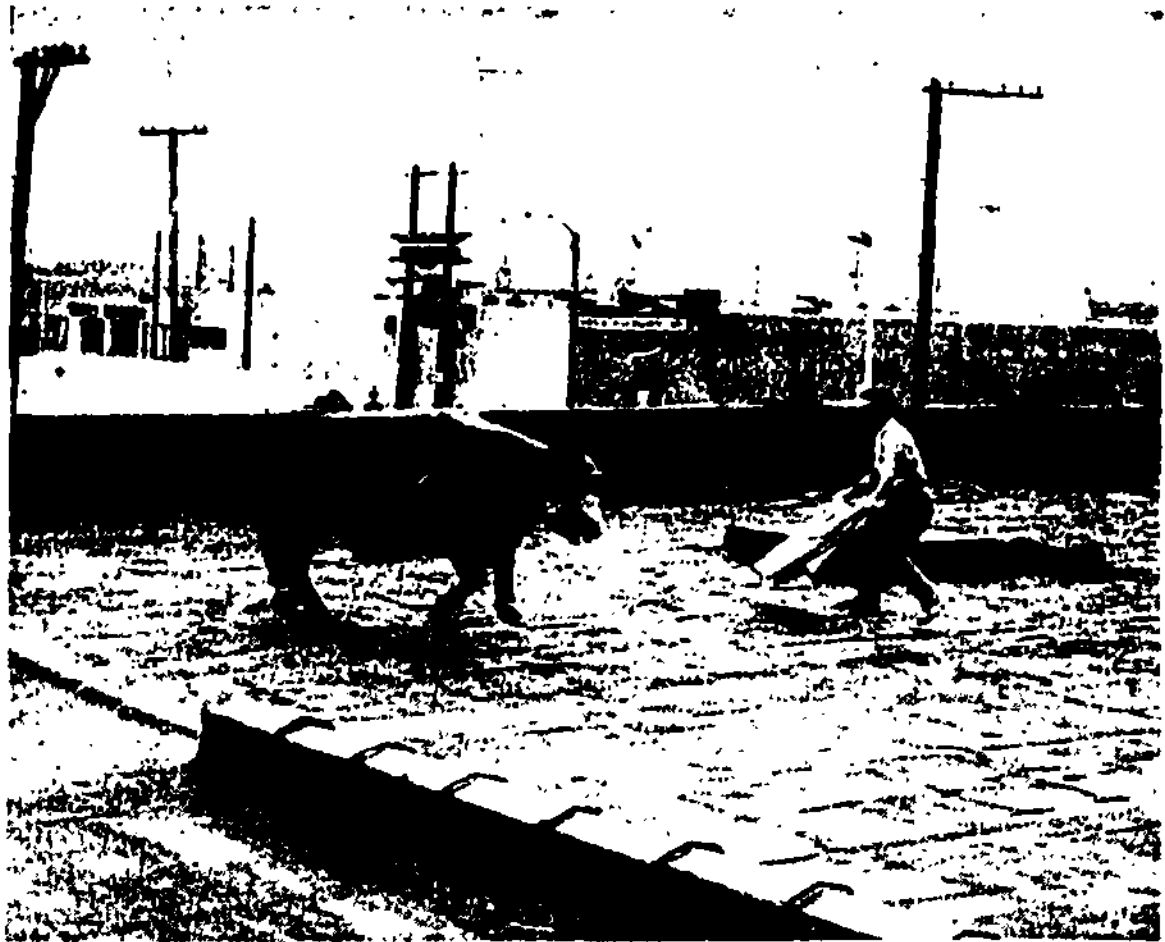

"The more comfortable a person is," Martin declared, "the less likely he is to be a fanatical Communist."

French Company Selling To Cuba

Lyons, France (AP) — The Berliet Co. said Wednesday it would begin delivery of $3 million worth of trucks to Communist Cuba within the next few weeks.

The French firm will therefore be ahead of Britain's Leyland Motors. Leyland has contracted to supply $10 million worth of buses to Castro, but has not announced a delivery date.

The United States has protested both sales.

'BULL RING' IN THE SKY

Mucio Zacarias, worker at a meat processing plant in Chicago, plays the role of a torero with a steer on the roof of building on South Side. The steer leaped through a second-story window of the plant onto the roof of an adjoining building. Zacarias goaded the animal into several passes at his coat before the steer was roped and taken back to the slaughter house.

Mock Defense, Attack Exercise Planned Friday

Omaha (UPI)—Top Rung III, a joint exercise of the Air Defense Command and the Strategic Air Command, will take place during the early hours Friday, a SAC spokesman said.

SAC said some B-47 and B-52 jet bombers will make low level sweeps near large cities in California, Nevada, Oregon and Utah. B-58 supersonic bombers will create "disconcerting but harmless" sonic booms near some larger cities during the mock penetration and defense exercise.

SAC said the exercise will take place over areas of Alaska, western Canada and the northwest United States and as far south as San Diego, Calif.

Interior Chief Is Impressed By Venezuela

Caracas (AP) — Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, back from a 1,000-mile round trip to one of the world's richest oil producing areas, said Wednesday he was impressed by what he saw.

He declined to comment on any new Venezuelan overtures aimed at U.S. oil import policies.

"We are not here to formulate policy, but to see and listen," Udall said.

Udall, who headed the U.S. delegation to the inauguration of Raul Leoni as president of Venezuela, flew to Lake Maracaibo in western Venezuela which produces around 2.5 million barrels of oil daily.

He was accompanied by Mines and Hydrocarbons Minister Manuel Perez Guerrero, and two top oil experts from his Interior Department staff.

Robbery Pulled Over Telephone

Muncie, Ind. (AP) — A robbery by telephone was reported to Muncie police early Wednesday.

An attendant at a filling station said a man told him by telephone that he was being watched by two armed men and ordered him to put his money in a cigar box on the counter and retire to a back room.

Bobby Gunter, 18, Muncie, said he did as he was told after putting $391.76 in the box.

Gunter said the money was gone when he ventured out several minutes later. He said he saw no one.

pleaded innocent Feb. 10, case dismissed.
PETIT LARCENY—Joyce Ann Miller, 17, of Beaver Crossing, pleaded guilty, sentenced to five days in jail.
INSUFFICIENT FUND CHECK—Leon Peete, no age or address given, pleaded innocent, trial set March 25, $200 bond.
CARL LORNE JR., no age or address given, pleaded innocent, trial set March 25, $200 bond.
ADRIAN K. WILSON, no age or address given, pleaded innocent, March 2, charged with auto theft, fined $25.

SUPREME COURT
Max D. Huxman of Cornstock asked the court to rehear a case in which the court had ruled that the Loup River Public Power District is entitled to a maximum water appropriation of 3,500 cubic feet per second from the Loup River.
